VOL. XXII.

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 27, 1891.-TEN PAGES.

THREE MORE SEATS

TO BE STOLEN BY HIGHLY MORAL REPUBLICANS.

REED'S RECORD OF CRIME GROWS.

Harrison Appoints a Negro Tramp as Postmaster in Vicksburg—The Force Bill Will Not Be Called Up Again.

WASHINGTON, February 26 .- [Special.]-The greatest outrage of this congress is on Tom Reed's programme for Saturday.

He has prepared a triple-plated resolution. which he will bring in from the commitsee on rules on Saturday, providing for seating three more republican contestants of democratic seats.

It is done for the sole purpose of giving three republicans $10,000 each. The three republicans are Goodrich, of Florida, in place of Bullock; McGinnis, of West Virginia, in place of Alderson, and Eaton, of Tennessee, in place of Phelan, deceased.

Reed will allow only an hour and a half debate on all three cases, and then the democrats will go, and for three days three republicans will be allowed to write "M. C." after their names, and will get $10,000

A Tramp for Postmaster. President Harrison today appointed Jim Hill, the negro who contested General Catchings's seat in this congress, to be postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss.

Vicksburg is the largest city in Mississippi. The postmaster's salary is $2,500.

'Hill is not even a citizen of Vicksburg," said General Catchings this evening. "He has heretofore lived in Jackson. But, of course, he now claims Vicksburg as his home, although he is not a taxpayer and does not own a dollar's worth of property in that city. He is simply a political tramp. His appointment is an infernal outrage. It was for a double purpose, to humiliate the white people of Vicksburg, and secondly, because Harrison believed that Hill could turn him over the Mississippi delegation in the next republican convention. The judgment of the people of Mississippi of both parties, will be that it is an infernal outrage upon the state. There was no lack of good material. A half dozen white republicans of character and ability were applicants."

The Force Bill. There has been some idle gossip in the news-papers, recently to the effect that an attempt might be made by the republicans at the last noment of the session, to rush through the force bill. There is no probability of any such tinct understanding between the leaders of the two parties in the senate, that no such attempt will be made, and even if a few republican were rash enough to make such an attempt, they could not put it through. Such talk is

United States Treasurer Huston has tendered his resignation to the president. Although Huston claimed to have saved Indiana to Harrison, the relations between the two men have never been cordial. Huston expected to succeed the late Mr. Windom of secretary of the treasury, and because he did not get it, he tendered his resignation. He will go back to Indiana and work against Harrison's renomination.

The Subsidy Steal. That infamous steal, the shipping subsidy bill, engaged the attention of the house today It was debated at length by both sides. Tw republicans and a number of democrats pounded it vigorously, while one democrat and many republicans advocated its passage.

Mr. Candler, of Massachusetts, a former ship owner and merchant, made a strong argument against it, and the fact that such an should come from the republican side, encouraged the opposition.

Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, another republican, also made a vigorous speech against it. Then Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, and other democrats, attacked it vigorously. Mr. Rogers charged that it was simply a republican scheme to pay back ship builders and ship owners the money they had advanced to the republican party for campaign purposes. He also charged that the largest and most powerful lobby congress had ever known, was here infesting the halls and estaurant of the capitol. Indeed, he said, there were so many lobbyists here that it was hard for members to get into the restauran These men were fat and sleek, and they had barrels with them as large as their bodies. They knew there were many votes the could not get, and they were enbegging democrats to leave the house and not vote at all. But, he said, "I advertise the fact that they shall not, without being shown up to the country. They mus have the courage to stand up like men and

The bill might pass the house tomorrow, but the chances are it will not be come a law, as it will have to go back to the senate, and the democrats there will attempt to talk it to death. But the lobby is powerful and will leave no stone unturned to make th bill a law. The bill provides for subsidies, ranging from 10 to 30 cents pe gross register ton, according to speed of vessel, for every five hundred miles of less sailed from a port of the United States to any foreign port over seventy miles distant, and the same sum for the second five hundred miles or part thereof sailed, and so on, adding from 10 to 30 cents, according to speed, for every five hundred miles sailed. The same amount is paid for return voyages.

The bill provides that the vessels shall be United States, registered and owned, and shall be officered by citizens of the United

THE NIGHT SESSION. At 9:45 o'clock the senate was forced to adjourn, owing to the absence of a quorum. The house, however, will remain in session until a late hour, or until some one suggests the absence of a quorum.

A MAD BOSTONIAN

Who Objects to the Conduct of the Tennessee Legislature. NASHVILLE, Tenn., February 26 .- [Special.] everal days ago Senators Polk, Rivers and Morris spoke in favor of an amendment to a resolution of respect to General Sherman, and expressed themselves in an umcomplimentary nanner. Today Senator Polk received the following letter from Boston, which he had following letter from Boston, which he had read in the senate:

Boston, February 20.—Senator Polk—(by the grace and mercy of the country which you tried to destroy)—Sir: If the Associated Press correctly quotes your speech in the Tennessee legislature on the proposed Sherman eulogy resolution, permit me to say that you are still a d—d traitor—that despised of reptiles—an unrepenting rebel. Your misguided, hotheaded, mistaken constituents should have counted the cost of the war before firing on Sumter, and learned, as they did when it was too late, that if was not a thirty days' picnic, but grim destruction, devastation, death. The march of the grand old hero from Atlanta to the sea means all these in their most terrible form. General Sherman's memory will live in history, and his glorious achievement in defense of the old flag will shine as bright and enduring as the sun that smiled on his march through Georgia, long after generations to come have forgotten to despise the memory of you and your miserable defenders and apologists for a lost cause.

These sentiments will also apply to Senators Morris and Rivers. All shame to the twenty who voted for the substitue resolution. Your children's children will vindicate the memory of the dead hero you have this day maligned, and blush with shame for the action of their fathers.

For the repenting, who see the error of their ways, I have natight but kindness. But I cannot read with calmness of such acts as these just enacted in the legislative halls of Tennessee. I have the honor to be, sir.

A BHERMAN FOLLOWER.

The senate treated the letter in a very light manner, and adopted a motion to refer it to the Commercial Club. The house today, by a vote of 53 to 37, rejected a bill to regulate railway traffic and reavent discriminations. traffic, and prevent discriminations.

SENATOR WILSON'S FUNERAL. The Services Conducted by the Chaplain o

the Senate WASHINGTON, February 26.—The funeral ervices over the remains of the late Senator WASHINGTON, FEOTURY 20.—The Tuneral services over the remains of the late Senator E. K. Wilson, of Maryland, were held at the Hamilton house this morning at 10 o'clock, and were attended by the immediate family, the senator's late associates in the senate, the congressional committees, and a few immediate friends. The services were conducted by the chaplain of the senate, Rev. Dr. Butler, assisted by Rev. Dr. Bartlett, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, and consisted simply of reading the services for the dead of the Presbyterian faith.

MRS, LOGAN'S ADVICE To the Republicans in the Unharmoniou Illinois Legislature.

SPINGFIELD, Ill., February 26 .- Mrs. John A. Logan has taken a hand in the senatoria fight. Senator Crawford has received the folowing telegram from her from Washington Better be defeated by an organized honorable opposition, than to be demoralized and dis organized by an ignoble surrender of principle. Stand firmly together and command the confidence and respect of intelligent people, even though you might be temporary unsuccessful. It is against reason, sense and all usage that a minority so small should dictate to a great majority of recognized honorable representa

Three republicans were still absent from the joint assembly today on account of illness; so members of the party and Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association refrained from voting for United States senator, breaking a quorum. The democrats cast 101 votes for Palmer in three ballots, when the assembly

WHY HE VETOED IT. The President Sends a Bill Back to the

WASHINGTON, February 26 .- The president Washington, February 26.—The president today returned to the senate, without his approval, the bill providing that the record and pension division of the war department, as now established, shall hereafter be known as the record and pension office of the war department, and that the president shall be authorized to appoint the officer now in charge of the division, colonel in the army and chief of said office. The object was to promote Dr. Ainsworth, head of the office.

The veto message was not laid before the senate, but it is understood that the grounds of disapproval are: First, that the bill is an encroachment on the executive prerogative of

A Bribe Was Offered.

OLYMPIA, Wash., February 26.—The special ouse committee appointed to investigate the charge of bribery of Representative John A. Metcharge of bribery of Representative John A. Metcalf by Representalive Harry A. Clarke during the late senatorial campaign, have made a report to the house. When the house was about to ballot for United States senator, Metcalf rose in his seat and displayed $500 in bills, saying he had been paid money by Clarke to vote for W. H. Calkins for United States senator. The report censures Metcalf and recommends that the house deal with him as seems just. It finds that Clarke offered a bribe and requests the grand jury to indict him.
A resolution was introduced expelling Metcalf from the house, but no action was taken.

The Senatorial Race in Mississippi JACKSON, Miss., February 26 .- [Special.]-The Chickasaw Messenger, owned and edited by Hon. Frank Burkett, state lecturer of the Farmers' Al-liance, today bids good-bye to, and declares against, both senators—George and Waithall—because of their recently-written letters to the alliance in opposition to the subtreasury bill. Successors to both senators must be elected in January next. Candidates for the legislature are already announcing themselves. The fight goes on WASHINGTON, February 26 .- Secretary Foster was at the treasury department all day today familiarizing himself with his new duties an making the acquaintance of the other officials of the department. His callers were so numerous that he had to devote himself almost entirely to them, and he requested Assistant Secretary Net-tleton to sign all the official mail as acting secre-

Why They Opposed the Report. BISMARCK, N. D., February 26 .- In the house the BISMARCK, N. D., February 25.—In the house the woman suffrage committee, to which was referred the bill prohibiting prize-fighting, boxing, etc., made two reports, the majority in favor of the measure. The house adopted the minority report, the argument being that the legislature was attempting to deprive the people of all kinds of inxuries and amusements.

A BOAT STRANDED AT BRUNSWICK. Snow Reported from Mississippi and Texas, and Severe Wind Storms from Other States-Floods in California. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., February 26 .- About 3 o'clock this atternoon the fresh westerly winds, which had been blowing since morning, moved suddenly around to the northward, and soon became a genuine northwesterly gale, the severest since 1872, and at 3:50 o'clock p. m. it reached a velocity of fifty-six miles per

After that it subsided gradually, and tonight is comparatively calm. Considerable damage is reported in all parts of the city. The front of St. James' stables, on Hogan street, was blown completely out and fell into the street, obstructing travel a time. Not far from there a grocery wagon with the driver and contents was overturned and blown a distance of forty feet. About sixty feet of a warehouse roof on Clyde pier was lifted off and demolished. A hole fifteen by forty-five feet was blown in the Subtropical building. Two houses in the suburb were wrecked.

Telephone and telegraph wires are down, vanes blown from the steeples, and many oak trees uprooted. No lives lost, nor injury to persons reported.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 26.—Another rain-storm of considerable extent has set in on the storm of considerable extent has set in on the Pacific coast. Rain is reported in Oregon and Washington and over the northern two-thirds of California, and is rapidly extending to the south. The rivers are already high in northern California, as a result of the last storm, and it is feared much damage will be done if the rain continues. All fears of a dry season are now past, and the farmers wish the rain to stop. The signal service predicts rain all over the state tomorrow.

Brunswick, Ga., February 26.—[Special.]—A terrific gale has been blowing here since daylight. This afternoon as the Naptha was returning from Brunswick to Jekyl, and with freight and mail for the members of the Jekyl Club, she was awamped at the mouth of Jekyl creek by a strong westerly wind, and the waves dashed over her decks putting out the fire in the engine.

After drifting a few minutes, she went aground and was swamped. The crew were Captain A. Johnson and Messrs. W. Hughes and William Adams. Captain Waite, of the steamer Corrine, secured a boat and went to the rescue, and though the heavy sea threatened to overturn his boat, he succeeded finally in getting the men aboard the steamer. They were brought to Brunswick at 12 o'clock tonight. It was indeed a miraculous escape, and the mail saved is very valuable.

The Damage Amounts to Over a Million

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Febuary 26 .- A fire that started in the Clare-Speaker paint works, on Fifth street, last night at midnight, is still raging, and has proved to be the most disastrous fire Minneapolis has experienced in years. The damage to property may be nearly $1,000,000, most of which is to the Lumbe Exchange, a magnificent twelve-story block, at Fifth street and Hennepin avenue. The Robinson block and the Russell block, the latter owned by Sol Smith Russell, the actor latter owned by Sol Smith Russell, the actor, are completely ruined. The fire caught in the upper stories of the Lumber Exchange, which was claimed to be fire-proof, and burned fiercely. The water did not reach above the seventh or eighth stories, and the firemen were nearly powerless. St. Paul was called upon for aid, and responded with two engines. The thermometer was below zero last night, and the intense cold delayed matters a great deal, as the hose kept freezing, and nearly every time a wheel crossed it the hose burst. After a fight of eleven hours the fire department succeeded in confining to the four upper

An early advance in futures, on the face of lower futures at Liverpool, was a puzzler this morning. It was pointed out, however, that the spot market was more active. The sales aggregated 12,000 bales, of which 10,000 were American. This is what our room traders have been looking forward to. They have been wanting to see this for some time. Manchester also made a better report—not very decided or tangible, it is true, but an improvement on the humdrum we have had from that quarter for some time. The effect was a slight advance in futures, and when New Orleans showed an active and stronger market, and Memphis reported sales of 6,000 bales, there was much strength exhibited on our cotton exchange. But the movement of the crop exceeded estimates, and in the last hour speculation was dull, with some weakness in values. Spot cotton was dull. two to three points advance, closing quiet at two

BUENOS AYRES, February 26 .- Additional advices received here from Chili state that the bombardment of Iquique by the insurgents was productive of great loss of life and heavy damage to property. When the rebels entered the city they attacked the stores and residences on six principal squares and completely wrecked them. The buildings had afforded shelter to a large number of women and children, but the insurgents, heedless of the rules governing civilized warfare, gave them no hance to escape, and pursued their work of destruction regardless of the frantic endeavors of the helpless occupants to seek places of safety. It is known that 200 women and children perished in the ruins of the sacked build-

THE FLURBY IN FRANCE

Occasioned by the Visit of Empress Frederick of Germany. Paris, February 26.—An increased feeling of anxiety lest a sudden disturbance should occur here before Empress Frederick leaves Paris prevails, and is reflected in Berlin. The plan which was looked upon as settled by which French artists are to exhibit the prodacts of their art at the Berlin exhibition, has been abandoned. M. Detaille, a French painter, has finally yielded to the pressure brought to bear upon him, and today announces that he made a mistake in consenting to send some of his works to the German exhibition, adding that he feels, upon reflection, that it would not be patriotic to go to Berlin.

M. Detaille also says that all brother artists represented at Berlin. The artistic question outlined by the statement made by Detaille and other French artists, is the chief topic of conversation throughout Paris and the provinces.

At the reception held yesterday evening by M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs, Count von Muenster, the German ambasador, threw the whole blame for unpleasantness, arising from the visit of the empress, upon Herbette, French ambasador at Berlin. This has given rise to a considerable amount of diplomatic correspondence by telegraph and otherwise, the outcome of which, it would seem, is that Herbette will most likely be recalled from Berlin, where he will be replaced by some one who will not lead will be replaced by some one who will not lead another imperial German visitor into such a political caldron of hot water as Empress Fredrick now finds herself in.

MAY CAUSE TROUBLE. That the actions of the Parisians and the tone of the newspaper press of Paris will be deeply resented in Berlin, nobody for an in-deeply resented in Berlin, nobody for an instant doubts, and there are many people who look forward not without a feeling of apprehension to the effect that the present "nnpleasantness" may have upon the mind of the young and warlike emperor of Germany.

THE EMPRESS TAKING IN THE SIGHTS.

The Empress Erederick and her daughter visited the cathedral Notre Dame, the Cluny museum and Luxembourg gardens today.

Excited groups in the lobbies of the chamber of deputies this evening discussed the Cologne Gazette's article of today and the effect of the rebuke on the imperious nature of the emperor. Paris evening papers reprint the article, but none make any comment, excepting La Liberte, which says that the article will ennone make any comment, excepting La Liberte, which says that the article will enlighten the Boulangists as to the impruden of their eccentricities. This reflects the ge eral opinion among moderate men.

In this connection the Gaulois today says that it is significant to note that the pro upon the part of the French people against the proposition that the artistic world of France proposition that the artistic world of France should be represented at the Berlinexposition, has caused a deep impression in Berlin. The Gaulois adds that the consequences of this feeling in Berlin may be serious.

Benjamin Constant, painter, has also refused to have the products of his brush exhibited at Berlin, though he says that he believes that this whole matter is an incident of patriotism wrongly understood. For his part, he says, he regarded French participation in the Berlin exposition as an opportunity for the Berlin exposition as an opportunity for taking a small measure of revenge upon the taking a small measure of revenge upon the Germans while awaiting something better. Caimer minds, ever since the project to get French artists to exhibit in Berlin, have been speculating upon what the effect would be upon the people of Berlin if, for instance, the celebrated pictures of Detaille, giving from a French point of view incidents of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, which the clarity is to Franch arms, were expossed at the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-'71, which are glorifying to French arms, were exposed at the exposition to be held in the capital of Germany. Referring still to French painters, who are nowthe center of interest here, The L'Evene, ment today comments on the bitter tone of the letter published by Meissonier's widow this this morning, and contrasts it painfully with the loyal, open-hearted letter of condolence sent to the widow by the young emperor of Germany when the latter was informed of Meissonier's death.

WHAT THE GERMANS SAY.

BERLIN, February 26.—The Cologne Gazette, commenting on the conciliatory overtures which Emperor William has made to France, of which the visit of ex-Empress Frederick is regarded as proof, says:

The French have the right to think of revenge; but they have no right to injure the feelings of the head of this empire and his mother by insuits that could be expected only of scoundrels. The German people feel deeply the outrage upon the person of their emperor, and they have the right to expect the French people and government to give ample satisfaction, and to whee out the stain upon the honor of France by energetically calling give ample satisfaction, and to wipe out the stain upon the honor of France by energetically calling to order the miserable wretches who have insulted ex-Empress Frederick.

THE QUEEN WAS THERE.

Double Launching of Warships at Ports mouth—A Grand Occasion. LONDON, February 26 .- Two ironclads, the Royal Arthur and the Royal Sovereign, were successfully launched at Portsmouth today, the occasion being made one of imposing cere mony and great pomp. Queen Victoria touched the electric button which broke the bottles of champagne over the bows for the christening and gave the signal to start the vessels down the ways. The queen was at-tended by the prince of Wales and a large

Misconduct.

Misconduct.

DUBLIN, February 26.—Archbishop Croke has written a letter for publication, in which he says, that if any Irish Catholic believes that in denouncing Parnell this was done to gratify Gladstone, he (the archbishop) would recommend such person to join some other church. Mr. Parnell, says the archbishop, has forced the fight by his gross misconduct. Priests, the archbishop says, are not forced to follow the bishops's lead in denouncing Parnell. The archbishop, in conclusion, says: "I hereby declare that I recard priests in the same light, whether they denounce or support Parnell, but I think their support of him is impossible."

The Suit Against Harringt

The Suit Against Harrington.

Dublin, February 26.—The suit for libel brought by Timothy Harrington, member of parliament, against the publisher of The Insuppressible, was commenced today. Mr. Harrington denies handling the funds received from the United States for the furtherance of the objects of the National League, saying in addition, that he had not had charge of the league funds, and that no one was paid unless by a check signed by the treasurer. Mr. Kenny testified as to the amount of money collected in the United States, and said that the number of evicted tenants exceeded 12,000, all but 900 of whom were paid out of the evicted tenants' funds. the evicted tenants' funds.

The Dockers' Strike

LONDON, February 26 .- The besieging of the LONDON, February 28.—The besieging of the offices of the Shipping Federation yesterday by the dock laborers and others seeking employment as freemen or non-unionists has shown how juldiclous was the stevedores' withdrawal of their strike manifesto. The federation, finding laborso pientiful, meditates declaring that, until the boycott of the vessels is removed, they will employ only free labor. The matter has been discussed, but no decision has been arrived at with regard to expenses. The federation declares that they have not yet spent half of the sum realized from the first levy of a penny per ton collected from every vessel offered or chartered by companies belonging to the federation.

Has Sailed for America. Has Sailed for America.

DUBLIN, February 26.—Mr. Fox, member of parliament, who is going to America in the interest of the Healyite faction, quietly embarked on the Teutonic at Queenstown today. He declined to talk on political matters, but he admitted that the object of the Healyite mission is to collect funds. Canon Keller, member of parliament, is to follow Mr. Fox and will probably start for America on Saturday. Fox and Canon Keller will together make a tour of the United States and Canada.

And Taken to the Gallows and Hanged

Washington, Pa., February 25.—William West, a colored murderer, to be hanged today, attempted suicide this morning. West stabbed himself in the neck with a rusty piece of iron which had been concealed in his bed. He remained scarcely conscious up to 2:30 o'clook p. m., in spite of the effort of the physicians. At that hour he was strapped to a board and carried to the scaffold.

At 2:33 o'clock the trap was sprung and the rope broke. The murderer was in terrible distress, and it took five men to hold him, though manacled.

MURDER WILL OUT.

The Story of a Crime Committed Over Ten Years Ago. Center, Tex., February 26.—[Special.]—In 1879, a fruit tree agent, named Barnes, of New York, while delivering trees and collecting, stopped for the night near Welbyville. He appeared on his rounds next day, but was never afterwards seen, and foul play was suspected. In December, 1888, a negro, Joe Rather, was hanged here for the murder of his wife, and it has since been learned that he had furnished Sheriff Sims the data to the murder of Barnes. The thigh the murder of his wife, and it has since been learned that he had furnished Sheriff Sims the data to the murder of Barnes. The thigh bone of a man has been found near where Barnes disappeared, and sufficient evidence has been secured to justify the arrest of Blankeship, a negro, who had left his wife and property for parts unknown. He has been located at Bay St. Louis, Miss., and the sheriff has gone to conduct him back here.

Diamond Must Pay the Penalty.

Greenville, Miss., Fobruary 26.—[Special.]
John Diamond, who killed Warren Stewart about two years ago at Arcola, was brought here this morning by City Marshal Rucks and placed in jail to await his trial. Diamond was a fugitive from justice. The first grand jury that sat in his case indicted him for manslaughter, and he was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,500, which was given by his friends.
He jumped his bondsmen. The last grand jury indicted him for murder. He was arrested

A RIGHTEOUS PUNISHMENT WELL

Charley Adams, a Black Wretch Who A saulted a White Lady, Falls into the Hands of Her Friends. AMERICUS, Ga., February 26.-[Special.]-

Tuesday night a black fiend committed a dastardly deed at Abbeville, Wilcox county, a short account of which was wired THE Con-Your correspondent visited Abbeville today, and got full details. In, or near Abbeville, there lives an industrious, hard-working white man by the name of Story. His daughter, Miss Sallie, is a young lady in her teens, who is the favorite of all who know her. When night came Tuesday, the Story family said goodnight, and retired, as was their wont, Miss Sallie going to her room, which was separated

THE TERRIBLE AWAKENING.

During the night she was awakened by the rough grasp of a clammy hand, and she awoke to find a black brute standing over her. Almost crazed by fear and excitement she summoned up unusual strength and tore herself away from the black fiend, who held her in a lustful embrace, and screamed for help. Her father ran to the rescue, and to him his daughter first told the story of her narrow escape from shame and degradation. The recital made the blood Story's southern manhood boil. The wretch took eager advantage of the first opportunity for escape, and when he saw that his hellish design was thwarted, he jumped from the window and

THE BRUTE CAPTURED. Ten minutes after Miss Sallie screamed, excited men in groups of five and ten were scouring the place for the negro. He was overtaken and captured about half a mile from the scene of his crime. The first impulse of those who captured him was to show the black brute such mercy as he would have shown his victim, But a consultation was held, and it was decided to place him in jail to await a trial by court. Men gathered from every quarter, and there assembled parties of men, livid with the rage which they felt because of this outrage on womanhood. Soon it became known that the devilish fiend was to pay the penalty. "Cooler heads" argued against the step about to be taken, but to no avail. The mad fury which sways man in its hour as the wind does the flexible willow, had possession of that crowd. Those thoroughly earnest men reasoned that the law offered too many delays, and they decided to take the

THE MILITARY ENCAMPMENT.

Brunswick Will Show the Advisory Board

Brunswick, Ga., February 26.—[Special.]—The city council, board of trade and other bodies have been engaged today preparing for the coming of the military advisory board, which is expected here tomorrow to examine Brunswick sites for the state encampment, and to look over the surrounding country. The board will be met at the train by a committee and excerted to the hotel, where they mittee and escorted to the hotel, where they will be delightfully entertained, after which they will be driven to the proposed sites. Brunswick offers two sites, either of which would make an excellent ground. The board of trade and citizens in general are deeply interested in the passage of the ship subsidy bill. Brunswick favors it fully, as it would benefit her shipping interests. It has been endorsed by the board of trade. The Oglethorpo is fast filling with wealthy northerners. It is one of the liveliest places in over Some Proposed Amendments to the City Charter.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 26.—[Special.]
This city is very much wrought up over the proposed amendments to the city charter, now pending in the legislature.

A large meeting was held in the courthouse tonight composed of some of the best men of the place. The object of the meeting was to express their objections to the amendments as reported in a former meeting, held in the opera house Monday night, and of which The Constitution had a full account.

The circular, which called the meeting for tonight, stipulated that none but those opposed to amending the charter were expected. This differed from the first, which was a public meeting for the pros and cons, both to have their say in the question at issue. All members of the board of aldermen were absent, and the kickers had it their own way. Resolutions a supposed to the country of the and the kickers had it their own way and the kickers had their own way. Resolutions were adopted notifying the representatives in Raleigh that it was the sense of the meeting that the pending amendments of the city charter do not pass. The Government Buying Royal Baking

From The New York Tribunes.

Large purchases of Baking Powder have recently been made by the United States Government. In one lot 80,000 pounds were bought of the Royal Baking Powder Company.

For many years the Government has given its orders for Royal Baking Powder in preference to all others, it being found that this is the only Baking Powder that will keep and retain its strength in the various climates to which it is sent by the Department.

Whenever the Government wants the most trustworthy article and the best in quality it prefers the Royal, as this brand was found to be superior to all others in leavening power by the official chemical tests, made at the instance of the Government, in the Agricultural Department, at Washington.

THE CENTRAL CHES THE TEACHERS SECTIATION OF GEORGIA TO SE CHARTERED.

Brown's Stolen Overcost Found in Macon-Personal News.

Macon, Ga., February 26.—[Special.]—To-day an application for charter was filed in Bibb superior court which is of interest to every chool teacher in Georgia. Owing to its im ortance the application, in part, is here given:

given:

The petition of Robert E. Park, J. W. Frederick, R. W. Smith, S. P. Orr and W. R. Thigpen shows that they have been chosen by the Georgia Teachers' Association as trustees of said association, under the name and style above mentioned. That the place of business of our association is to be mainly in such cities and localities in Georgia as the annual meeting of the teachers of the state may be held, but they desire to have the right and authority to establish at any time a permanent place or places for holding annual sessions of said Teachers' Association as may seem desirable by said body.

Teachers' Association as may said body.

The object of said association is to promote the cause of education in Georgia by drawing into closer relationship the teachers and educators thereof, and by mutual interchange of views to increase their instructing capacity. They have thereof, and by mutual interchange of views to increase their instructing capacity. They have the further object of more generally diffusing education throughout the state, and in every way increasing educational facilities.

The petitioners desire that said corporation shall have the powers and responsibilities usually placed upon similar institutions—namely, to receive donations by gift or will, to purchase and to hold property, real and personal; to sue and be sued; to have and to use a common seal; to make by-laws binding on the members of said corporation not inconsistent with the laws of Georgia and the United States, and to do such other acts as are necessary for the legitimate execution of the purposes for which said association was formed.

The petitioners show that there will be no capital stock in said association, and that it is not organized for the purpose of profit in a pecuniary tal stock in said association, and that it 18 not organized for the purpose of profit in a pecuniary way to any member thereof, the income being confined to such annual dues as the association may impose, and no individual being liable for any debts of the association to a greater amount than the annual dues.

The petitioners desire permission, when it may become practicable, to have authority to form a joint stock association with such sum as they may become practicable, to have authority to form a joint stock association with such sum as they may think proper, not to exceed $25,000, and that said stock be devided into shares of $10 each, in which event the stockholders may be liable to the entire amount of the stock which he may own. The incorporation is to be for a period of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal.

GOVERNOR BROWN'S OVERCOAT

Is Found in a Pawnbroker's Shop in Macon-Atlanta Thieves Arrested

MACON, Ga., February 26 .- [Special.]-Governor Joe Brown's overcoat was found in a Macon pawnbroker's shop today, where it had been pawned by an Atlanta negro thief. A few days ago Officers Patterson, Herrington and Charlie Moseley arrested two negro thieves-Bill Burney and Wesley Clements, of Atlanta. Burney was an escaped convict, and a reward of $25 was offered for his cap ture. The reward has been paid to the officers. At the time of the arrest of Burney and Clements there were two other negroes-Shep Fletch and Jim Robinsonwith them, but they got away. The officers telegraphed to Atlanta about the arrest of Burney and Clements, and an officer came for them and carried them to Atlanta. Shep Flitch then went to Atlanta and told the authorities of the many thefts committed by the gang, and, on condition that he would not the gang, and, on condition that he would not be prosecuted, obligated himself to reveal the reabouts of much plunder that had been stolen by the gang.

It seems that the thieves had been operating in Macon and Atlanta, and the goods stole in one town were shipped to the other to be sold

Shep Fletch showed the Atlanta authorities where a large amount of stolen goods were concealed in Atlanta. Sixteen overcoats that had been stolen in Macon were recovered. Officer Etheridge, of Atlanta, came to Ma-con yesterday to try and identify some of the goods that had been stolen in Atlanta. He has found three overcoats and other things so far. Annexation for Population.

From The Boston Transcript. From The Boston Transcript.

There seems to be a general tendency among large American cities to annex the surrounding places. Cincinnati wants its population increased from 296,051 to 374,573 in that way, The proposition to include all the territory within ten miles of Boston in one metropolitan district has begun to be agitated with more or less earnestness. That would give Boston a population of nearly 900,000. THE OLD HAG ARRESTED

The woman filled the description, even to being web-toed, and the girl filled the right description. The girl acknowledged she had run away from New York. The woman said the girl was her daughter. After being held in custody all day the pair was released, and left for Arkansas with the detective in pursuit. There seems to be little doubt that she was the right party. The girl has remarkable musical talent.

H-A. H-A: HA. HA! Laughing by Telegraph-A Cold, Deliberate

Process. from The Indianapolis News. Did you ever laugh by telegraph?

Probably not. It would hardly pay. When one reflects that it would cost a cent or two per chuckle to express his sense of amusement, he refrains from manifesting it and lets it go without saying.

But-laughing is done by telegraph. It is the telegraph operators who indulge in this luxury, and mostly the night operators, who have more time than the day people. When an operator becomes lonely and his sounders are clicking out only messages not intended for him, he calls up some friend operator, maybe a hundred sources areny and operator, maybe a hundred sources areny and operator.

lred squares away, and opens a conversation. A conversation, of course, cannot be continued long before something "funny" is said. It then becomes the duty of the operator to laugh. This he does by making four dots, then one dot and a dash, thus: . . . . —, spelling ha. Thus to all jokes he replies, h—a,

—a. Sometimes, to make it easier, he says —i, that is four dots and two dots. The laugh by telegraph is necessarily cold nd sardonic. It does not bubble irresistibly to the surface. It is the result of deliberat to the surrace. It is the result of drampose. When one has sufficient self-control to laugh in this way probably his tribute to your joke is not what you would desire. But the operator is often shaken with laughter before shaking his key with it, so to speak.

Telegraph operators have a few other conversational expressions, among them "hm," four dots and then two dashes, indicating surfice of the langly young fallows in their railrise. The lonely young fellows in their rail-ay stations are really not so lonely as they seem. When idle they may talk. What do they talk about? Why, girls. Girls, girls, the interesting subject of literature for ages, are also the everlasting theme of the night telegraph correctors.

sad memories of past conflicts, for "he dreams of battlefields no more." From the poverty of earth his spirit has flown to the wealth and glories of a peaceful shore, on which the ocean of earthly troubles casts no disturbing billow.

If in sorrow and sadness the yearnings of the hearts of his confederate comrades could have saved him, he would not have left us.

In life, warm-hearted, gentle and affectionate—true to his convictions, faithful to his friends.

In his death we humbly bow to the decree of the inevitable, and to our friend and comrade bid arewell, until some sweet day on the eternal amping ground beyond the sky we shall meet gain, with comrades of the blue and gray living nd loving in perpetual peace. gain, with comrades of the blue and gray living nod loving in perpetual peace.

It was their first election since the town was It was their first election since the town was chartered, and, instead of having it regularly conducted by three freeholders, a box was used and managers were dispensed with. This box was tightly nailed up, and a hole cut in it large enough to admit a ballot. It was then left at some convenient part of the town and the voting began. When a citizen wanted to vote he prepared his ballot, went to the box, stuck it through the aperture and retired without having to be questioned by managers or clerks. When all had voted a committee of one was appointed by the citizens to open the box, count the ballots and declare the results.

The officers elected have learned that the election was not legally held, and are seeking legal advice as be how they shall now proceed towards getting their town government in proper working order.

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 27, 1891.

The Party, Not the Places. In discussing presidential possibilities a number of our democratic exchanges are inclined to quarrel over state preferences. In other words, the issue seems to be-not the man, but the state. They are making paper presidents to order every day, and advocating the claims of various states for presidential honors as if the meeting of the national democratic convention were only a

It is well, of course, to look ahead in these matters and canvass the political field in advance; to have preferences for the state that is likely to wield the greatest influence in a presidential election. But it should not be forgotten that the main issue at stake is the democratic party; its solidity; its strength; Its union and perfect organization.

The party is more than any state, and it is foolish to predict its failure because its leader does not come from a favored and selected section; it is foolish to begin a campaign of abuse against New York; to condemn Ohio and uplift another state; to mock at Marvland and declare that unless such and such a state is honored the victory is lost.

No matter where the next presidential candidate comes from, the democrats of the union should rally around him-and they will. The north has already promised that If he comes from the south he will receive its support, and in some respects the north is more liberal and unbiased in this matter than the south, which is disposed to yield all claims at the first whisper of a presidentia

The party is more than the man or his birthplace. For its success we are fighting. We want good men for its leaders, no matter where they come from-men who are in touch with the people; who have the people's interests at heart and will fight the people's battles. And such men will not be wanting when their services are needed.

What is wanted in the democratic party more than anything else is a union of interests and thorough organization for the work before it. It is the success of the party, the welfare of the people, first and last.

The Republican Record. The democrats are always justified in resisting by every means in their power the republican legislation that may be said to Verdict for plaintin, sho and congia .... poses of that party. It marways victous and always corrupt. It is always against the interests of the whole people and in the interests of the few. It is the legislation that money buys: it is the legislation that greed and selfishness suggests.

Such legislation it is the purpose and destiny of the democratic party to resist. Yet we believe it is only when the rights of the people and the privileges of the citizen are imperiled that the democrats should resort to the extreme measures of opposition that marked the protest against the force

In other words, we are of the opinion that the democrats, after a reasonable and earnest show of opposition, can very profitably permit the republican party to make up its vicious record of corruption and extravagance. The pension swindles; the disappearance of the surplus; the pending deficit; the subsidy bill, bought and paid for-all these ought to give spirit and energy to the next democratic campaign. Nay, more—they ought to be the means of giving an overwhelming victory to the party of the people.

As to Negro Education. The Memphis Appeal-Avalanche has been discussing the question of negro education in the south, being led thereto by the results of a meeting held in Boston recently, for the purpose of obtaining money to maintain an Atlanta university "devoted to the education of negroes." It will be remembered that at this meeting the Rev. Horace Bumstead, president of the university, said: It is useless to contribute money to carry on the primary educational work, as that is being done by the states themselves. The north must aid in supplementing this primary education, so that the colored young people may become qualified to act as teachers, farmers, mechanics and success-ful business and professional men. It is important that the normal and industrial work should be extended. One half of the needed income of $40,-000 annually is assured, but the remainder must be supplied from annual contributions.

Taking the above as a text, our contemporary makes some very good points and puts the subject in a different light. It thinks that the negroes of the south-and especially of Georgia—are amply able to maintain such institutions of learning as they may desire to establish, without the assistance of money from the north or elsewhere.

Our contemporary says:

They have plenty of money and plenty of opportunities to earn money, and it is quite time that they should be required to depend upon themselves. The condition of the negro laboring man in the south is infinitely better than that of the white laboring man in the north. He can be a single work and nay for his work set and work and nay for his work set. always find work and pay for his work, and the tax lists of the state of Georgia show that the negroes of that state are able to provide for the nts of half a dozen universities like that of At-It is time for northern philanthropists, as well as northern politicians, to let the negro ald He is able to pay his way. Mr. Bumstead adm the liberality of the southern states with regard to the primary education of the negro. That being true, the negro can provide himself with the means of "higher education."

Some of the above points are well takenespecially as regards the ability of the negroes of Georgia to "take care of themselves," and it is with pleasure that we note a growing tendency on their part in that direction-a desire to be independent and "hoe their own

The negroes in a number of Georgia cities have for some time past been making strenuous efforts to secure the location of the proposed negro college. As a rule, when they have schemes of that character in hand or schemes of any kind, for that matterthey appeal to the whites for aid. But in this instance—and notably in Americus they evinced a disposition to be more independent. In the city mentioned they refused offers of aid from the white people and made up the money among themse If the proper interest in education can be aroused among them, if they can be brought to see the wisdom and necessity of it, the means to put their plans in operation will not be wanting. There is no doubt that they are able to help themselves. They are certainly the reverse of the objects of charity held up to northern philanthropists. More pride and independence is what they need most. They have the money, if they would apply it to proper uses. All that they need do is to supplement the work which the state does for them with work they should do for themselves.

A Windfall for the Lawyers. Local option elections in the west are blessings in disguise—at least to the legal fraternity. This is proved by a recent contest in Nebraska. The attorneys for the prohibition side mapped out the fight and carried the election into the courts, inflicting a heavy expense on the state in stenographers' and witnesses' fees. But the heaviest expense of all is the bill of the lawyers for services rendered. This bill, if allowed, will reach the enormous sum of $22,000, which will go into the pockets of the lawyers, while in addition to this amount $7,550,50 is asked to satisfy other costs. These lawyers lost their case, but they expect the state to pay the money, "for services endered." The bill is before the legislature, and if it passes they will receive a rich eward for inciting two factions to war.

The local press has entered a protest gainst these enormous fees. The press holds that the individual or political party that makes an election contest should pay the expenses of it, outside of the necessary cost of hearing and printing testimony. Two parties agreed to contest an election and employed lawyers to represent their interests. And now they request the state to foot the Prohibition contests in Nebraska come high. If they occur often, and the state settles the bills, the lawvers will soon be in ### full posession of the treasury. Disreputable Journalism.

In a recent issue The St. Louis Globe Democrat published an extract from the speech of a South Carolina negro congressman, grossly reflecting upon southern women; publishing it with apparent endorsenent, though without editorial comment.

The article in question was a defense of egro criminals, false and slanderous in every line. It is so bold and shameless that we will not reproduce it here. It had its origin in the lynching of negroes in the south for heinous offenses. It defends such negroes and makes inferences of the most nfamous character.

We are surprised that The St. Louis Globe-Democrat should have given this negro congressman's speech the endorsement and publicity of its columns—for to publish such an article without editorial inquiry, in omment or otherwise, implies endorsement. It is well known that The Globe-Democrat The dieng of the south! but its stock of sensations must be running low, and its journalistic honesty ebbing fast when it seeks, through the infamous utterances of a negro congressman, to defame the south and southern people; when it publishes the statement that negroes are not arraigned for the most terrible of crimes in localities where they outnumber the whites; that they are only held accountable where they are in the minority, the inference being that, under other circumstances, their offenses, of what ever character, are condoned, they being rarely "in the wrong."

It is not our purpose to reply to this negro congressman's tirade, but to protest against that journalism which not only gives place to such articles, but leads an already prejudiced people to make their own inferences from them, and thus form false and evil opinions of the south and southern sentiment. It is disreputable journalism, and is enough to condemn and ruin the character of any newspaper with honest men.

Senator Blackburn's Sentiments.

Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, has written a letter to Colonel John C. Noble. Paducah, Ky., in which the senator says: In the light of the publication of Mr. Cleve-and's letter autagonizing his party upon the silver question, I do do not believe there is a demoeratic member of the senate who would favor his nomination for the presidency, or who believes it would be possible to elect him in '92 if nominated. No organization is effected or attempted here hostile to him, but there is now but one opinion as to his lack of availability.

I have no personal objection to Mr. Cleveland in he world, but I do not believe that any man can be elected president in '92 who is opposed to free sliver coinage. The people have been trifled with long enough upon this subject. The truth is that for twenty-five years New York has never furnished a democratic leader who has not been in thorough accord with Wall street, and at variance with the masses of the people. This was as true of Mr. Tilden in former years as it is today true of

Mr. Cleveland. I have longed to see the day when the democrats can elect a president of this country without pay-ing the tribute that New York always levied. I think that time is at hand. I have no favorite candidate, but only insist he shall be a fair and honest representative of democratic sentiment.

That is the way for a democratic leader to talk on this important subject. The time has passed for the democratic party to temporize further on this important subject. Let us speak out our sentiments, and fight or measures, not men. If we expect to gain anything by the election of a democratic president in the next election we must have a candidate who will be in harmony with the party on all questions at issue-not a man who must be taken as a choice between evils. Let us have a bold man who will demand that the methods now in vogue in congress must be wiped out-and that the halls of congress must be used exclusively for the benefit of the whole people, and not to hatch and bolster schemes of monopolist robbers and public plunderers who infest every nook and corner of the capitol with their hirelings. Senator Blackburn is on the right line The whole country longs to see the day when the people can elect a president without paying tribute to any section. The south and the west have been long enough the hewers of wood and drawers of water. They have brave men who have borne paiently the wrongs of republican misrule, and who, when aroused, will be like a cyne—they gave notice at the last elec what might be expected they will be pre-pared in the next presidential election to en phasize that notice. The sentiments of halor blackburn expressed above clearly ndicate what the thinking men are preparing to do. Weak-kneed democrats and mugwumps may look out. It is as plain as the handwriting on the wall was to the fatal Belshazzar. Time servers and bigoted polticians have been weighed and found wanting. The people will rule according to their ideas and interests, after the next presidential election.

A Reform Needed. The recent tragedy in Ohio in which two men were killed and others wounded, suggests a much needed reform in the sensational journalism of the day. The editors of two rival newspapers know very well that it is not only wrong to indulge in indecent newspaper abuse, but that such a course must necessarily terminate in bloodshed. To vilify and degrade a man's character in the columns of a newspaper, in retaliation for a real or fancied wrong, is to inflict on its readers matters which do not concern them and to invite bloodshed and perhaps murder.

The story of the Columbus tragedy has already been told. It began in a newspaper quarrel and ended in the death of two men. to say nothing of the danger to the lives of others who were near them when the murderous battle began. Men have a right to air their grievances in newspapers under certain circumstances and within proper limits. But no newspaper should lend its columns to personal and broad abuse, the inevitable result of which finds fitting expression in the recent tragedy in Ohio.

The press of the country should inaugurate a reform in that direction, and place a decent limit to such deadly controversies.

AN EXCHANGE hopes that the free coinage issue is not to be permitted to overshadow the question of tariff reform. There is no langer of that. The next democratic platform will cover all the important issues and questions, and the party will go before the people conscious of the justice and power of its cause, and confident of victory.

BILL CHANDLER renews his charges against his brother republicans in New Hampshire The probability is that both Bill and his one mies are correct. It is generally conceded that viler set of scoundrels than the republicans of New Hampshire cannot be found outside of BROTHER BLAINE'S reciprocity business would be a fine thing if only the consent of this government were necessary to put it in practice. But the consent of other nations is necessary, and this fact gives reciprocity a long and a very hard road to travel. Other countries are ahead of us in this matter.

From The New York Tribune. The little village of Krapiwna, Russia, was thrown into a mild state of excitement recently by the report that Count Leo Tolstoi, the novelist, was to defend a man who was to be tried on a certain day for the murder of a companion. The report gained considerable credence when on the day mentioned the count and his daughter appeared in the little hamlet, accompanied by one or two friends. Tolstol's belief that man has no right to sit in judgment upon his fellow was well known in Krapiwna, and the courthouse became crowded with peasants. Among them was soon seated the great novelist, wearing the gray woolen shirt, heavy trousers, and the high boots of the poor Russian. When the case was called, however, he did not plead the cause of the murderer, and the peasants were disappointed. But Tolstoi secured the services of the best lawyer in the district and paid the expenses of the defense. During the trial he took notes zealously, and manifes greatest interest in the result. He explain zeal later, it is said, by the assertion that he in-tended to use his notes in the preparation of a new novel which is to deal in part with the crimi-

CONFERENCE IN SAVANNAH ABOUT THE CENTRAL.

Mr. Inman Looking into the Financial Affairs of the Road-Nothing Done About the Presidency

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 26 .- [Special.]-Mr. Hugh T. Inman, of Atlanta, arrived in Savannah this morning to confer with Mr. John H. Hall, of New York, who is president of the Georgia Central Company, a fi wheel in the larger wheel of the Central railroad system. The Georgia Central Company was organized by the New York stockholders, who bought just prior to the election of General Alexander as president, and whose efforts brought about the latter result. Mr. Hall is now its president, and as such his wishes have great weight in the affairs of the road. Indeed, the Georgia Central Company has it in its power to make or unmake a president, and such a negotiation is now pending, as has been announced.

It seems that there is no doubt about the residency having been offered to Mr. Inman. It is equally certain that Mr. Inman is very slow in accepting, if he accepts at all, and it is hought that the conference between him and Mr. Hall will settle the matter definitely. The report is that Mr. Inman has been offered $20,-000 a year salary, but it appears that the matter of salary is not the issue that delays the settlement of the question. There are other conditions that must be met, and negotiation are now going on concerning them.

Mr. McBurney tells of a college friend who was traveling in Europe, when he received a sudden summons to come home, was this accompanied by the rather unpleasant information that his father had failed and that he must now hustle for himself. He got to America to find only the homestead at Jersey City left. His mother had taken great pride in her flower gardens, and the son had evidently inherited the taste, for he at once began utilizing the gardens and greenhouses in raising flowers for the New York market.

"He has made thousands of dollars and now makes thousands each year," said Mr. Mc-Burney. "From the little houses, such as you find about a home, his plant has grown until his houses are probably the largest and most fully equipped about New York. He makes big money and so, I believe, will we."

Addison Knowles told a good story at the Kimball a few evenings since. The party was discussing excursions in general and farmers excursion parties in particular. "They do a great deal of good," said Mr. Knowles, "and I am always ready to do everything in my power to entertain the visitors and to keep them here in Georgia, too, But sometimes a fellow is likely to get fooled by one of the party, as was the case with one of the most prominent planters in our county. One member of a party of excursionists that came to our county several years ago expressed a liking for Greene county property and gave it out that he had with a view to purchasing. Now, my friend A. who is one of the biggest men in the county, had a nice plantation which he thought he would not be averse to exchanging for a good quantity of hard money, so he set up to the visitor most enthusiastically. A. entertained him at his home, drove him over the county, introduced him to his friends, and was just as pleasant as a man could be. This had been kept up for five or six days, when, one day, I was surprised by a call from the visitor. The Girls' Industrial School. WASHINGTON, Ga., February 24.—Editor Constitution: I did not intend to say any more about the principalship of the Girls' Industrial school, as I am satisfied the matter is settled, but I get so many letters from other women that I think I must say a final word. I wish that they would write themselves to the newspapers. No woman in the state has less personal interest than I have. I will first say a word in reply to The Augusta Chronicle. I was reared (or raised, as we crackers say) on The Chronicle, and like the paper and 's editor, I read both The Constitution and he Chronicle, and advise all who can to do the

The Chronicle thinks a man must now be at the head of that school, because, for one reason, a head of that school, because, for one reason, a man is needed to go before the people and talk it up. This is needed to raise appropriations.

To which I reply, an appropriation is already made. Also I do not believe at the present stage of the matter that there is needed a man to stand between the girls and women of Georgia and the voters and taxpayers, in order to conciliate the favor of the latter for the former. One section of the voters I know pretty well, those of Wilkes county, but I am quite sure it is not needed here. But finally a gentleman, a most able and eloquent one, Chancellor Boggs, did a good deal of taking for the university. The result was nil, and it certainly is not encouraging in regard trying the life agency for the girls school.

But finally, let me state very clearly what believe is best, what the success of the school mands. In the first place, I think that plashould be filled so as to secure a thoroughly opeten head.

As I understand the matter, the principal nould be filled so as to secure a thoroughly operent head.

As I understand the matter, the principal the school is not called on to be himself or self a stenographic or typewriting exp General executive ability and deep interest in subject are the two natural qualifications. acquired qualifications are some experience carrying out such an establishment.

Now there may not be a young in the above.

General executive ability and deep interest in I subject are the two natural qualifications. Tacquired qualifications are some experience a carrying out such an establishment.

Now there may not be a woman in the state who has this last kind of fitness. I do not believe there is a man who has it. I have been pretty well acquainted with male teachers in Georgia. I do not, perhaps, know every one. But I do not believe there is a man in the state who has the full acquired qualifications. Perhaps somebody who thinks he has a chance, has been visiting such schools, and knows a little. But I go back and repeat: I do not believe there is a man in Georgia fully prepared for it. If Georgia was like myself, I believe it would be best to go out of the state and get a principal fully prepared. But I recognize the fact that the principal must not only be fit, he must satisfy ple in the state. I do not believe there will satisfied unless you put a Georgian in the plad There will be opposition to him and it will grow. The acquired qualifications can be to some extent supplied by personal study of such schools. But a woman is just as ready to learn these things as any man. The Columbus Enquirer says it does not believe any woman has the technical knowledge required. This technical knowledge is not needed in the principal, and I prophesy the man elected will not have it. Now finally. I will sum up, though I am probably wasting pen, ink and time in saying it. In general but not special education, women are just as fit as men, as any man in Georgia. They are more fit, because the abstract best woman is better than the abstract best man for this work.

There probably is some defect of acquired fitness in woman. But I repeat, I am satisfied there is just as mich lack in any man who appries.

I declared mysif as not favoring female suffrage, merely to avoid complicating and prejudicing the cause I advocated. I am a good deal surprised to find there is a small but intelligent body of Georgia women who do not agree with me in not desi

That is what this cold wave coming this time probably means to Georgia.

It means the salvation of the fruit cro for had it come later when vegetation was farther advanced, we would probably have seen a repetition of the state of affairs of last season, which was No fruit at all.

Last year, it will be remembered, the cold snap came in the first week of March The weather for weeks before had been mild and balmy, and the fruit trees had budded and blossomed. The cold was so severe that it brought a blight with it, and the fruit was entirely killed.

This year's cold comes earlier, and instead of doing harm, will doubtless do good, by retarding the growth of the fruit and preventing it from being injured by the cold which is likely to follow later on.

Two Anthorities. Two authorities on weather and fruit crops were talking seriously yesterday, at the capi tol, about this cold snap.

They were Commissioner Nesbitt and Dr. Sam Hape, both interested in fruit crops of

"No harm has been done yet," said the commissioner, "and there will be a big fruit crop this year unless it gets considerably colde than it is now." "Yes," said Dr. Hape, "the only fear is that it may get several degrees colder. The fruit crop is not in so advanced a state now as it was when the cold snap came last year the first week in March. Last year the fruit crop of the state was a general failure. But the ther mometer then was twenty degrees lower than It is now, and the weather last winter had more abrupt and more marked changes. "While we have had no very cold weather this winter, the average temperature has been considerably lower than it was last winter. The weather, on an average, was warmer last year, and the fruits had developed more when the cold snap struck them than they have

"Yes." the commissioner agreed, "the weather this winter has been much more uniform, and the fruit trees are in better condition to stand the cold, even if the thermome ter gets as low as it did last year. The plums were killed last year something I don't remember ever happening before, The cold snap came just when it could do most harm and was cold enough to make a clean sweep. Yes, the danger is that it may get several degrees colder, for it is the intensity of the cold that kills fruit. Last year, even after the cold snap, the people down about Houston county thought they were going to have a good crop. But the cold had worked insidiously, and everywhere the damage was not apparent at first, the weather had been cold enough to dwarf and stunt the growth and prevent its maturing. No, there is no immediate danger to the fruit unless it gets considerably colder than it is now."

Commissioner Nesbitt was a little more ap

'Even in Cobb county," said he, "this warm, moist weather of the last two or three weeks has developed the fruit rapidly. My peach buds are just ready to burst forth. The blackberries are one-third grown. I don't think this weather is cold enough to hurt; and a steady cold wave might do good rather than harm. But if it turns much colder the wuit might be considerably damaged."

The Day and the Outlook. The worst is over, and today we are going to have clear, cold, healthy weather. Atlanta had her first genuine snowstorm of the season yesterday, and snow is preferable to rain any day. Since Wednesday the thermometer has taken a long tumble and a strong tumble.

It began its precipitous descent at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when the wind shifted to the northwest and slowly increased and in about fifteen hours' time it had dropped from 60 degrees above zero to 32 degrees above zero. The whole south felt the effects of the cold wave except that portion on the coast extending from Norfolk to Key West. The cold wave came straight down from the Dakotas to the gulf, the coldest point in its path being Fort Buford, 20 degrees below, and the highest Key West, 76 degrees

Yesterday afternoon a cold area was on its way toward Atlanta. It was then bounded on the north by the North Platte river, on the south by San Antonio, on the east by Fort Smith, Ark., and on the west by Dodge City, Kan. Zero was marked on its northern border and 34 degrees above at the southern extremity It will strike us at a very early hour this morning, and Observer Byram says 20 degrees above will be about the lowest point reached, and that is the coldest of the season. The wind will haul in considerable of its stock, and the day will be bright, clear, cold and the winds light and variable. Snow fell yesterday at Vicksburg, Miss. Memphis, Nashville and Knoxville, and Atlanta got her full share of it.

Rain fell over the entire country east of the Mississippi river, the heaviest being in Virginia, the fall there being 1.25 inches in twenty-four hours.

The barometer was on the rise all day yesterday, and is still rising, indicating good steady weather ahead of us. The maximum velocity of the wind was 24 miles per hour. The maximum thermometer was 40 degrees; minimum, 27; total rainfall, 45 inches. The forecast for today is fair weather, brisk northwesterly winds and colder.

The Portrait Is Deceptive.

It would be a great help in recognizing the original if with every picture of a man could be published a little table setting forth his height and weight and other physical characteristics. THE STORY OF THE CONFEDERATE WIDOWS' PENSION BLANKS.

County Solicitor Appointed for Wilkes. The W. and A. Rental Paid-Minor Matters at the State

The widows' pension blanks are bee famous, and their first appearance will now be a matter of some unusual interest. Until they are mailed and sent out from the executive department a blank will be worth something as a curiosity. All efforts to secure a blank have proven fruitless, and the pension sharks have wasted good deal of time and ingenuity in these efforts, too. The nearest successful attempt was made by Phillips & Taylor, the Atlanta lawyers, who were mentioned in this connection a few days

They succeeded in getting their eyes upon the "proof," then in the hands of the public They did this by stating that they had anthority to do so, and stating further that Major Warren, secretary of the executive department, had already shown them a blank form. They wanted to see the proof to show where a certain change was to be made.

Major Warren states that he never saw either of the two men to know them; never gave any such authority; never showed them one of the blanks, and he himself has never seen one of the blanks.

The two men wanted a number of thes blanks printed for their own use.
"Of course," says Mr. Harrison, "I had the right to print anything they wanted printed, but I just didn't like the proposition and told them they would have to get their work done But even these two men failed to secure one of the blanks; and to make doubly certain of it, Captain Tip Harrison, after they were shown this proof, has had the form changed.

The blanks have all been printed, and are now packed up and stored away at the capitol. Money couldn't buy one until they are all ready to be sent out. The secret is Captain Tip Harrison's. Even the governor "ain't in it." If Captain Tip should die before they are ready to be sent out those blanks might, by accident, some day be found. Then, again they might never be found.

Fred W. Gilbert was yesterday appointed by the governor county solicitor of Wilkes, vice Will Wynne, who was not an applicant for reappointment.

With the School Commissioner. "Look here," said School Commissioner Bradwell yesterday, "if you were called upon to define writing, how would you do it?"

The question was prompted by the examina-tion papers he had just received from a colored applicant for a teacher's license. This question as answered by the darky: "Writing are the pivertal representation of personality and the eleven part of a non." Just were the darky derived his informa tion does not appear.

There are any number of [curious mistakes nade in these examination papers, particu-products of Georgia, mentions "crossties and Another one in answer to the question "How is the plural usually formed English," says—"address to the singular." It's a plain case of somebody else telling im to "add S to the singular," and he misun-

Another darky, in answer to the question, "How many counties are there in Georgia?" names all the counties immediately around the one in which he resided, and concludes with "George Washington and Andrew Jackson."

IS HE THE MAN? A Good One on One of the Candidates fo

That council caucus

Has been cussed and discussed a multitude of times since it occurred. But here is a caucus echo that may provoke a smile, especially if you happen to suspect the "certain gentleman." The story is true. A day or two after the caucus, one of the gentlemen who is anxious to become a police commissioner, and whose name it was generally thought had been handled by the caucus met Commissioner Brotherton on the street.

The two gentlemen are very good friends and Captain Brotherton tells the story as a "Well, I'm the man," said the gentleman, little excitedly. "Yes-guess there's no doubt about it. I'm the man." "I'm glad to hear it," said the captain, as they shook hands on the situation. "Let me

You will hear this at every turn. Men who "cannot afford" life or accident insurance will habitually indulge in extravagance which affects simply their peasonal comfort for the time teing, and when the "unexpected" happens, their estates are found to consist principally of "liablities."

Why not guard against unforeasen contingencies by immediately insuring in a first-class accident company—say the Standard Accident Insurance Company, of Detroit, Mich?

THE LAND OF OPHIR. Speculations on Solomon's Lost Mine of Precious Metals.

From Harper's Bazar.

The belief has long prevailed that the enormous quantities of gold which contributed to the splendor of the reign of Solomon were brought from some part of southeast Africa. "And they came to Ophir and fetched from thence gold, 420 talents, and brought it to King Solomon." Ophir was famous for its gold in the days of Job, who speaks of "laying up gold as dust, and the gold of Ophir as the stones of the brooks."

Where was Ophir? Some say in Malacca; others have located it in India; others in Arabia, and not a few have contended for the bia, and not a few have contended for the southeast coast of Africa, about Sofala. There southeast coast of Africa, about Solaia. There has been much discussion on the subject, but the discussion has been profitless. The Sofala region of South Africa has as much to recommend it as any other. As told in the Bible, the story of the Queen of Sheba and the story of Ophir have a singular relation to each other and seem to suggest that the location of the one was not far from the other. In Solomon's time the round voyage to and from Ophir cov-ered a period of three years. This has by some been considered fatal to the south African

When we consider the times and take into account the difficulty of transport the objection loses much of its force. It is at least a remarkable circumstance that discoveries should now be made in the very region of outh Africa so long favored by one set of tra ditions-discoveries which point unmistakably to very ancient occupation by a people advanced in the arts and industries of civilization, and also to the plentiful existence of gold in the region at one time, however it may be

From The Boston Post. I heard lately of a pathetic case of loneline which comes to a stranger in a strange land, when suddenly deprived of a life-long companion, under the most painful circumstances of doubt and mystery. The wife of a Frenchman employed as a designer in one of our great textile manufactories missed her husba textile manufactories missed her husband, upon whom she was dependent for support. Weeks passed away, and as he was known to have money on his person it was feared he had met, as the reporters say, with foul play. At last his body was found floating near one of the bridges on Charles river. Upon it was discovered $2,500 which the Frenchman had se covered $2,500 which the Frenchman had se-creted in his clothing as a safer place than a savings bank or deposit vault, and suspicions that he was murdered for his money were abated by the discovery. As for the widow, she was a victim of conflicting emotions—of grief for the loss of a husband, and of joy that he had not left her penniless. She had re-solved to remain in this country till he was found, dead or alive, but now she means to go back to France and open a little shop in Paris, where she has friends. where she has friends.

Gould's Library. From The St. Louis Republic.

A paragraph recently printed, says the New York World, and which was to the effect that Jay Gould has a number of rare books in his library and is constantly on the outlook for new literary treasures, is rather amusing to any one acquainted with the facts of the case. Mr. Gould's library is a collection of 800 or 1,000 volum which he purchased when he bought his present residence at Irvington, and was taken along with the furniture and other equipments of the house. The former owner of the house did not intend selling the books, but sent word through a third party that he would do so if Mr. Gould cared to have them. Mr. Gould asked how many books there were and what the price was, probably averaged the price per vol-ume, and, finding it rather the p, agreed to take them. Rare books are scarcely in Mr. Gould's line. His favorite reading is "Poor's Railroad Manual," and he is said to know that almost by heart.

ATLANTA'S LOSS.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE CENTRAL DIVISION OF THE SOUTHERN

xpress Company to Be Removed to Chatte nooga-It Is Thought Another Office Will Be Started Here.

While in Chattanooga yesterday, General Manager O'Brien, of the Southern Express Company, made the statement that the head quarters of the Central division of the comany would be removed from Atlanta to that Mr. C. J. Campbell is now superintendent of this division, he having succeeded the late William H. Clayton. Nothing further about the removal could be ascertained yesterday, as Mr. Campbell was absent from the city, and nobody else connected with the local offices The headquarters of the Central division have been in Atlanta for about twenty-five years, but during those twenty-five years some remarkable changes have taken place and Atlanta has become a big railroad center. The general opinion prevails that this great growth and the correspondingly great increase in the business of the express company has much to do with the change.

Twenty years ago only four railroads entered Atlanta—now there are eight, with more coming. As the railroads increase in number the express business becomes greater and more complicated, until now it has spread away beyond the control of the superintendent of the Cantral division.

Central division.

The Central division's territory now includes the East Tennessee road from Bristol to Brunswick, the Norfolk and Western and all its branches between Bristol and Norfolk, and the Georgia Pacific from Atlanta to Greenville.

Now there is only one solution of the whole

Now there is only one solution of the whole problem, say those who know how the matter stands, and that is a redistricting of all the divisions of the company.

The headquarters of the six divisions are at Wilmington, N. C., Nashville, Jacksonville, Charlotte, Macon and Atlanta respectively.

Now, it is thought, the whole territory of the company will be redistricted, as the same condition of affairs exists in the other cities, only to a lesser degree, perhaps. The Central division will be split in two portions, the headquarters of one to be in Atlanta, and of the other at Chattanooga. Superintendent Campbell will go to Chattanooga, and a successor to him will have to be appointed here. Several names have been mentioned for the position, among them the present superintendent of the local office, Mr. John Lovette, Mr. Lovette has been with the company in various positions local office, Mr. John Lovette. Mr. Lovette has been with the company in various positions ever since the war, and has served it faithfully and well.

Even though the division was left intact, and the headquarters in Chattanooga, Atlanta would require a general agent to lock after the immense local business of the company.

Superintendent Campbell was, for ten years previous to his coming here, superintendent of the Texas division, with headquarters at Texarkana. It is said he will remove from here to Chattanooga, with his clerical force and family, as soon as the necessary building improvements are made in the Chattanooga offices, but that may be months ahead yet, as and tamily, as soon as the necessary butteng improvements are made in the Chattanooga offices, but that may be months shead yet, as the contract has not been let.

General Manager O'Brien held a conference recently with President Teomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road, in regard to the renewal of the leases of the buildings counted by the Southern, Express Comings occupied by the Southern Express Company, adjoining the union depot at Chattanooga. The outcome of the conference will be the signing of the new lease for a long period, probably ten or fifteen years.

A Pessimistic Outlook. From The Pall Mall Gaze A great story is told by Mr. Montagu Wil-liams, concerning an argument that took place as to whether or not a certain boy of very ten-der years was old enough to be sworn as a wit-ness. At the suggestion of one of the counsel engaged in the case he was interrogated by the judge, when the following colloquy took judge, when the following colloquy took place:

"Now, my little man," said the judge, "do you know what will become of you if you tell an untruth?"

"Hell fire," said the boy, without moving.

"Well, and what will become of you," continued his lordship, "if you play truant and do not go to school?"

"Hell fire," said the boy.

"What if you don't like your brothers and sisters?"

"Hell fire," again said the boy.

"What if you stay out late other sends you on an errand?" What if you spill the milk?"

"Hell fire Hell fire."
His lordship ran through a long list of faults, some of them of a very slight description; but At the end of this examination the learned

"My lord, I hardly think this little boy suf-"My lord, I hardly think this little boy sufficiently intelligent or instructed for his evidence to be admissible."
"Indeed!" exclaimed the judge. "Well, now I entirely differ with you. He seems a very good little boy, and if he grows up in his present belief, and thinks the direst punishment will be visited upon him for every fault he may commit, he will probably make a much better man than you or I."

The boy was sworn.

No Use for Cheap Books.

"This whole idea of cheapness is degrading." says High Price McKinley, and cheapness seems to be thoroughly hated also by the republican members of the national millionaires' club. Mr. Edmunds, speaking on the copyright bill, said that it would be better not to have any editions of En-cyclopædia Britannica at §1 a volume, but every-body had better pay at least §3 for a better printed edition. "But suppose," a senator interrupted,
"a man can afford $1, but cannot afford $2"
"Then," replied the consistent Vermonter, "he had better wait until he can." Volumes couldn't say more. Having taxed about everything else, it put such a tax on knowledge as will keep it out of the hauds of people of small means.

CIDER, ALE, PORTER, BEER, DEMIJOHNS FLASKS, CORKS AND OTHER GOODS BELONGING TO THE WINE AND SPIRIT TRADE.

At 6 o'clock in the morning, after two nights and one day on the "mighty deep," our steamer was anchored in Havana bay? a half mile from the custom house. The board of health and custom house officers met us in small boats and gave us landing permits. We went ashore in Chinese-looking boats, which use oars or sails, depending upon the weather. The custom house is just at the wharf. In going through the necessary red-tapeism we found the Spanish officials kind and polite, though rather slow in examining baggage.

Taking carriages, we passed through the quaint, foreign-looking old part of the city, with its narrow, ill-paved streets, where it is impossible for two carriages to pass each other-the law requiring that they move only in one direction-coming down one street and going back another. At some points awning is stretched across these streets, from side to side, reminding us of Bellamy's idea of protection from rain and sun.

Cows, with their young calves, were eing driven from door to door, to be milked, thus assuring the customers of fresh milk. A Cuban lady told me that they had to watch the milkers closely, to see that he didn't pour water into the milk from a can which he carried. So, we find the same inclination to cheat in all countries. I noticed asses being milked in front of residences, and was told that their milk is preferred for invalids and young children. Goats are appreciated here, and thetr rich milk add a de-liciousness to tea and coffee. It is also given to children and delicate people, and is considered very nourishing.

Our drive to the hotel was at the hour to see the market gardeners bringing in their vegetables, fodder and fruits. We truly real-ized what the "pack-norse" means when we saw the hardy, small native horses laden with immense baskets, securely tied to their backs, filled with vegetables and fruits, arranged artistically. It was quite laughable to see these steady, patient animals moving slowly along, completely covered, except tail and head, with green-corn fodder, which really touched the ground on each side. In like manner they were carrying charcoal (which is the principal fuel for cooking), showcases containing shoes, laces, ribbons, buttons, thread, needles, pins and other small wares. I saw as many as nine pack-horses tied to-gether in long procession—one man attending them. Carriage horses are washed in the bay twice a day.

THE CITY OF HAVANA. The city is situated on a peninsula formed by the Gulf of Mexico and the Bay of Havana. The coast line of the gulf is nearly east and west. As the bay enters the land it expands and broadens both to the southeast and southwest.

The city extends about a mile and a half from the point of the peninsula to the old mili-tary wall which did inclose it. In this part of the city the streets are very narrow, the side walks being only wide enough for single file and the houses compactly built. When the population of Havana exceeded in number those that could with comfort live within the walls, a new city sprang up half a mile or more south of the wall, beyond the military reservation. Thus, at one time there were two cities, one within the wall, the other outside. When the old wall became useless as a means of defense, the government abandoned it, laid off the military reservation into streets and squares, and thus the two cities became united into one.

The Prado is the Broadway of Havana. It is about 120 feet wide, and runs from the gulf on the north to the bay on the south. It is said to be two miles long. Arcades from the houses ever the sidewalks are required by law to be seventeen and a half feet above the sidewalks, and rooms are built to the two-story houses, above this. The houses are usually built of white limestone, which is soft when it comes from the quarry and hardens from exposure to the sun. It is the principal building material. The brick made here are very poor.

Most of the floors are of marble and tiles. The windows, look principal and tiles. ws look prison-like with the iron bars which are at every window

Most of the rocks belong to the azoic formation, overlaid by limestone of tertiary formation.

The disintegration of the white limestone makes very fertile soil, and becomes red by oxidation of the iron in it; black by the infusion of vegetable matter. The gray soil is derived from disintegration of azoic rocks.

They grow four crops of corn each year on this rich soil. Green grass is everywhere in this perpetual summer. The finest oxen and Jersey cows I ever saw were grazing on the Havana has about 250,000 inhabitants. The city is enchanting at night, and her people turn day into night. Opposite our hotel was the place with its bright lights and military band. Crowds gathered there every night Pleasure-seeking people truly enjoy them-selves, and all of them seem to be pleasure seekers. Work and trouble and business seem to be put off until tomorrow. The

seem to be put off until tomorrow. The senoritas look charming in their light dresses and lace head scarfs under the bright light, under the palms, evergreens and Indian laurel trees.

The city is picturesque at every turn. We do our shopping at night. The clerks know at a glance that we are "Americanos," and usually raise the price of goods accordingly. In the largest stores they have one or two English-speaking clerks. The clerks are paid their board and clothing and a very small salary. We noticed them eating in their shirt sleeves in the rear of the stores. sleeves in the rear of the stores.

sleeves in the rear of the stores.

One of the most comfortable establishments to visit is Dr. Belot's hydrotherapic and bathing establishment, No. 67 Prado. Dr. Belot and his lovely, thoughtful, American nieces—the Misses Joerg, added greatly to our enjoyment, and gave us many delightful drives full of interest. Through them the captain general extended to our party a welcome. He gave us a reception, and was exceedingly cordial and pleasant.

Through the courtesy of our fellow-townsman, Mr. A. L. Cuesta, who lived in Havana for years and now makes annual trips there to

for years and now makes annual trips there to secure fine cigars and tobacco for his Georgia customers, one of the aldermen of Havana escorted us to the clubs of the city. The Casino is one of the attractions of Havana—with such fine attraction of Havana—with such fine attraction of Havana with such fine statuary and paintings which delight lovers of real works of art, and, during the winter months, giving splendid balls and lyric and dramatic entertainments.

This club supports a fine academy—French, English, bookkeeping, drawing, etc., are taught. The members have their hospital, taught. The members have their hospital, where they pay for nursing their sick. Dues for membership at clubs are about one-fourth as much as clubs in America. I noticed that the families of the members were spending the evening there. Dominoes and billiards seemed to be favorite games.

One is impressed at every turn with the light here about the propose.

One is impressed at every turn with the light-heartedness of these people.

As a race, they are rather small and not so dark as I expected to find them. They looked at Dr. Hawthorne as if a very giant had stalked into their midst. In their cordiality stalked into their midst. In their cordiality they are very like our own southern people. I suppose the conditions in life and customs of all slave-owning people are similar. The negroes here look very much like those at home.

These people are music-loving and have fine opera houses, where there is some splendid musical feast every evening—Sundays not excepted. Two of the five galleries, in the finest opera house, are arranged into private boxes, seating from four to six in each box. In these were the beautiful senoras and senoritas (no girl ever being without a chaperon) in bright, graceful evening attire. From the opera they usually attend some grand ball during the gay season. All of the first ladies ride in carriages to the opera everywhere. No lady of position ever walks or works. Every woman carried a beautiful fan, which she used in a languid, graceful way. The gentlemen came into the opera house wearing their hats—not removing them till they were seated. It is the universal custom for them to leave the house when the curtain falls at the end of each act, their wives and sisters frequently accompanying them. There were two negroes in the splendid orchestra.

BERNHARDT'S TRIUMPH.

A Graphic Description of the Actress as Cleopatra.

From The New York Epoch. Looked at cynically—and one is obliged to be cynical occasionally—the history of Cleopatra, as enacted at the Garden theatre, is not a beauns enacted at the Garden theatre, is not a search of the control o than that which we can hear every night on the fences of our houses, with Tommy and Kitty as the hero and heroine. The coyness of Kitty, the seif-assertiveness of Tommy—her retreat—his advance—and there you are. My idea is not a pretty one, but it is correct. Sar-dou has not ennobled his play with a single poetic excuse. To redeem Antony and Cleo-vetre from the exclosing and uninteresting sexpatra from the cyclonic and uninteresting sexpatra from the cyclonic and uninteresting sex-uality of Sardou, we must fly to Shakespeare. He is always there for us. The humblest of us can afford to drink the delicious draughts of wonderful thought that he offers. The most jaded creature can be reinvigorated at this font.

Mme. Bernhardt is a beautiful picture as Mme. Bernhardt is a beautiful picture as Cleopatra, with furtive, elongated eyes, a tangled mass of tawny curls, a lissome figure artistically concealed by the most admirable Egyptian drapery, a skin of an indescribably delicate gold-brown hue, indicated rather than express expressed, and a voluptuous abandon of man-ner that is marvelous. There was no single flaw in Mme. Bernhardt's impersonation. In flaw in Mme. Bernhardt's impersonation. In the cooing moments of Cleopatra's love, her voice was a lullaby in itself. No music could be sweeter, more penetrating, more restful to the ear. And yet her every word could be dis-tinctly heard at the back of the theater. In the fiery persones, Bernhardt repressed a great deal of the tempest that surged around "La Tosca." In the scene with the messenger the audience expected a paroxysm and saw an irritation. Bernhardt was unerring in her judgment, even when we might have been tempted to forgive a little discrepancy in favor of those moods to which she has accustomed us. She is the supreme artist at all times.

provided the party owing the debt so contracts in writing.

It is desired that said corporation be authorized, and have power to lease or rent all houses, tenements or buildings it may own, and to generally carry on a leasing and renting business.

It is desired that said corporation have the power to establish any kind of factories for the manufacture of any and all kinds of articles as they desire, and to establish any kind of factories for the manufacture of any and all kinds of articles as they desire, and to establish oundries and rolling mills and to use all machinery necessary for the same.

It is further desired that said corporation be authorized and have the power to open such streets, make such donations for bighways, alleys and streets as it may desire, and the same to improve, grade and work out at will; and that it be authorized to construct, erect and maintain such lighting, heating and motive power plants, buildings, apparatus and machinery, as may be deemed expedient, and to use the same, enjoy, rent out, supply and sell or dispose of; also to build, own or lease waterworks, or to sell, rent or lease said waterworks, water or the privilege to use such water for any purpose.

own or lease waterworks, or to sell, rent or lease said waterworks, water or the privilege to use such water for any purpose.

It is further desired that said corporation have authority to borrow money and to execute such notes, bills or bonds, and the same to secure by such mortgages, deeds of trust, or other encumbrance upon its property and franchise, as it may choose.

And that said corporation have all the powers specified in section 1678 of the Code of Georgia of 1882, and all such other as are incident to like corporations.

The place of business and chief office of said corporation to be in said Pulton county, with the right to carry on business in said county or elsewhere, as it may wish.

The capital stock to be employed to be three million dollars (3,000,000) divided into shares of $100 each, to be paid in such weekly, monthly or other installments as it may determine, and with the right and power in said corporation to increase said capital stock, from time to time, to any sum not exceeding ten million dollars (30,000,000).

The said corporation to have the right to organize and begin business when 10 per cent of its capital stock is paid in.

Petitioners ask that said corporation be incorporated for the period of twenty (20) years, with the privilege of renewal when and as many times as may be legal, and that this petition be filed, recorded and published, as the stainte provides, and that the court do pass an order declaring this application granted.

And petitioners will ever pray.

My mother was sorely afflicted with Scrofula for three years and a half; during that time the glands on her neck burst open in five places. Three of the openings were small and healed right up, but the other two would fill up and break open anew, about every two weeks, always causing severe pain and often prostration. She was so reduced in strength, that tonics and cocoa wines had to be generously used to keep her alive. She commenced taking S. S. The fifth annual meeting of the Railway Freight Claim Association of the easter western and southern states will be held in this city, March 5th. The subjects of special importance to be considered are proposed changes in loss, danger and overcharge rules. The secretary, Mr. F. B. Goodall, has issued a general call for the meeting, and hopes that a full representation of the members will be present. The headquarters of the members will be at the Kimball house.

There are many people who do not know why the term "limited" is applied to certain fast passengers trains. The term is only applied to those trains that are limited as to the number of cars they carry.

The East Tennessee road will shortly commence to put down sidings between Knoxville and Cleveland, Knoxville and Morristown and Knoxville and Coal Creek. The sidings will be long enough for the accommodation of five trains, or 200 cars, and cross-overs will be placed at the distance of every forty cars. Although not as effective as the double track, which is a luxury in railroading, yet the system will then blossom as the rose. This work, of course, can be done at a great deal smaller cost than the double-tracking, which virtually amounts to the building of another road. The traffic on the divisions mentioned is so heavy that the sidings are necessary. Work will also be commenced in the near future on an extension from Rogersvile Junction to Big Stone

"There are two classes of people interested in railway operations who have formed an idea that private cars are expensive and troublesome luxuries," says an old railroad nan. "Until within the last fifteen years private cars were few and seldom used. Occasionally the president of some road like the Erie, which was struggling to make both ends meet, owned a car and rode over the lines in it, but the time has come when every man who carries the title of general officer must ride about in a car costing from $15,000 to $30,000, and there is now considerable rivalry between officials of the same road as to who shall ride over the country in the finest private car, and usually the lowest salaried officer has the best. Of course, it will not do for the engineer and fireman to grumble loudly that they have to haul the private cars, and usually on the days when the track is the worst and the train the heaviest. It is the stockholders who are now looking into the matter. They do not complain that the president, and possibly the general manager, should have private cars, but they do object to general officers down to the superintendent of motive power and chief engineers having fine private cars subject to their orders, There are roads in the west on which there is a private car to about every 100 miles of line. An expert railroader estimates that it costs a railroad company $25 a day when a private car is out on the line ordi narily, and when invited parties are along it will require twice that sum to keep the car provided and haul it over the road.

Cartersville wants a new depot, and her council has appointed Captain C. B. Wallace, Rev. Sam Jones and Mr. J. C. Wofford, of that place, a committee to wait on the new lessees of the Western and Atlantic to induce them to remove the present freight depot, and also erect a passenger depot. The present structure, they claim, has long since outlived the requirements of the public demand.

Anent the big suit of $140,000 of Danforth & Armstrong against the Tennessee and Coosa railroad, President Thomas says his company is in no way liable for it. He says the road was purchased from Baxter and Shook, free from all indebtedness.

The Western and Atlantic officials report is concerned. Although the road now has at least 300 loaded cars on its various tracks in and around the city, yet they are in such shape for handling that a merchant will receive his freight within three hours after the order for its delivery is sent in.

Columbus, O., will make an effort to secure the general office building of the Order of Railway Conductors. Indianapolis, Ind., has offered $25,000 and a site, and a committee has been appointed at Columbus to canvass for sub-

The gross earnings of the Richmond and Danville railroad for the first week in February were $274,800, a decrease from the corresponding period of 1889 of $16,125.

It is said that arrangements have about been completed to move the depot of the Elberton Air-Line road to Elberton, and allow the track of the Georgia, Carolina and Northern road to run parallel with and close to that of the El-

On every road since railway trains to turn their wheels began, at every station you will see a solitary man. His brow is damp with beaded sweat, his heart with wee is eleft; most bearded sweat, his near with work steel; insteamently he wants to go, the man that's always left. If the train due at 1 o'clock p. m. should wait till half past eight, there'd be one man come down to go just thirty seconds late.—

Railroad men at Nashville complain of a scarcity of cars. The trouble seems to be with the weather. Hundreds of cars are standing on side-tracks loaded, and despite the protests on side-tracks leaded, and despite the protests of the impatient freight men, the consignees will not unload them. Coal cars particularly are at a premium. The warm weather has detreased the demand for coal to such an extent that dealers look with trepidity upon the enormous quantities of fuel they have accumulated lor winter consumption and for which there is little demand.

About all the roads which are now being built in Georgia, and those which are projected, have Savannah in view as their seaboard outlet, says The Savannah News. In the very near future, therefore, the volume of the commerce of Savannah will be very much greater than at present, though it now excites the envy of all the other South Atlantic ports. And Savannah can handle all the commerce which may come to her. She has a harbor in which float vessels drawing twenty-one feet of water, and the work of deepening it to twenty-six feet is being prosecuted vigorously. With twenty-six feet of water from the sea to her wharves she will be able to accommodate the largest vessels.

Since the completion of the large and substantial bridge over the Chattahoochee, Columbia has been the terminus of the Columbia branch of the Central. It is said that an extension of this branch will be affected at an carly day. The extension proposed to follow up the old route surveyed by the company, tapping the Alabama Midland about three and a half miles southeast of Ashford, and on through that portion of the country to Geneva, and thence to Pollard.

THE CONSTITUTION: ATLANTA. GA. FR SAM JONES'S CONDITION.

He Was in the City Wednesday and Looking

Yesterday's dispatch from Sherman, Tex., caused much comment and created great anxiety among the friends of Rev. Sam Jones throughout this city and state.

But their fears would have been set at rest could they have seen him Wednesday when he arrived in the city from Cartersville. He visited his brother-in-law, Mr. John T. Stocks, and the latter says Sam, from all appearances, was in the best of health.

Shortly after the Palestine affair Mr. Jones went to Gainesville, Fla., to fill an engagement. Just after his arrival there he was taken ill with an affection of the kidneys and bladder. It was while in this condition it is thought, that he penned the very despondent letter to his friend at Sherm which he stated that the arduous labors of the past few years had destroyed his health.

Mr. Jones was obliged to cancel his engagement at Gainesville, and about ten days or two weeks ago he returned to his home in Cartersville, where he remained, resting, until Wednesday, when he came to Atlanta.

From here he went up to his farm in Kentucky, where he will spend a few days. He has formed no plans for the near future, or if so he has not communicated them to any one. The kidney trouble has almost disappeared.

Mr. Jones's relatives in this city are always in constant communication with him, and never, by letter or orally, has he expressed himself in so despondent a manner as was in dicated by the Sherman letter.

They apprehend no trouble whatever, and say the noted preacher is good for a long lease of useful life yet.

The latest improvements in schedules on the Central road will be the running of a through sleeper from Savannah to Hot Springs, N. C., via Augusta, which will be commenced in March. This schedule is for the convenience of the summer travelers going to the mountains. They can leave Savannah by the new schedule—one leaving after supper, and will be in Hot Springs in time for a warm supper the next evening. This through sleeper will also be an improvement for Augusta people going to North Carolina.

STATE OF GEORGIA, COUNTY OF FULTON.—Personally appeared before the undersigned Clarence Angler, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the state agent of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, and that the foregoing statement is correct and true.

CLARENCE ANGIER. Sworn to and subscribed before me this 17th day of February, 1891. HENRY A. CASSIN.

Insure your life in the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., because

The company issues the best contract of any life insurance company. The convertible policy has endorsed on it in plain figures: lst option, cash surrender value; 2d option, amount that may be borrowed from the company on the policy; 3d option, extended insurance for full amount of policy; 4th option, paid-up rolicy value. The company pays large annual dividends (which can be used either to decrease future premiums, or increase the amount of insurance), which is infinitely preferable to "Tontine" or "5, 10, 15 or 20 Year Distribution" policies, on which you have to wait 5, 10, 15 or 20 years before receiving any dividends, and in case of death or lapse during this term, you lose all your dividends. The Mutual Benefit pays larger dividends than any other companies, as is shown by the following table, taken from "The Spectator Company," which company bears the same relation to insurance as Bradterest or Dun to mercantile affairs. The table states the ratio of dividends to premiums of the company is singer organization:

Don't be misled by estimates! Don't garnble with your life insurance! See that your policy is a fair business contract, which will give you value for your money, whether you live or die, whether you keep up premiums or not. If you think it wise to gamble, in the hope of winning other people's money, notwithstanding you run a corresponding chance of losing your own, there are other methods more attractive than "fontine" life insurance, where you won't have to wait so long for the end of the game, and the expenses won't absorb so much of the profits if you win! To such as desire insurance with the least possible outlay of cash, the company offers the privilege of the 30 per cent loan plant Under this plan the company agrees to accept a uniform cash premium of 70 per cent of the full rate, the remaining 30 per cent loan plant of the profits in the policy as a loan to be met by dividends, or to be deducted from the face of the policy at death, if it should not previously have been paid off in each or by dividends.

Don't take assessment insurance—it is temporary, uncertain and unreliable. It professes to sell life insurance for such a price, that a member must live 150 years to pay in as much as he takes out. The absurdity of such pretensions proves the ignorance or dishonesty of the management. Examins the record and plans of the "Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company," and you will find that a policy in that company will meet every reasonable requirement, and will give you exactly what you are looking for. THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

Exchange.

NEW YORK, February 28.—The stock market today showed a distinct improvement in both temper and activity. It broadened perceptibly, although the dealings still retained their almost purely professional few of the leading shares, to that extent remaining narrow. There was, however, undoubted support in many stocks from some sources, among which may be mentioned the Gould stocks and St. Paul. The high price attained by a few of the specialties brought out some long stock, and realizations for profits in these shares encouraged the selling of other stocks for abort account, but all the offerings were absorbed and the attacks were quickly given up, giving the market an irregular and sporadic appearance throughout the day.

Realizations on advances knocked prices off toward 2 o'clock p. m., when all leaders lost the greater portion of the improvement, and such specialties as Susquehanna and Western stocks scored heavy losses. The afternoon, however, brought a reaction, and again prices were brought up to the best of the day, St. Paul and Coal stocks being most prominent in the upward movement. There were free realizations in the last hour, especially in St. Paul, but Pacific Mail took another jump at that time, and the best prices of the day were well held till the end. Trading in Industrials was marked by the first sales of the new H. B. Claffin stocks. The market finally closed dull but firm at or near the highest figures.

NEW YORK, February 28.—Our market opened stronger on better prices from London and a somewhat improved feeling here, though there were no developments to warrant any change, except advices that it was probable that the predicted financial troubles in London would be tided over. The general list opened at from \( \frac{1}{2} \) to \( \frac{1}{2} \) to \( \frac{1}{2} \) and \( \frac{1}{2} \) to \( \frac{1}{2} \) and \( \frac{1}{2} \) to \( \frac{1} spurts and the consequent reactions. Some engagements for shipments of gold for Europe caused a somewhat unsettled feeling at the close. CAHN & Co.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, February 26.—Continued reports of damage to the French wheat crop and cold weather were the influences under which May wheat closed \( \) \( \) \( \) higher than the day before. Most fif the early sales were against calls, the opening price having been very close to the price at which most of the privileges have been sold. On the several advances which took place the buyers who had wheat bought at below \( \) \( \) of the things of the privileges have the buyers who had wheat bought at below \( \) \( \) of the things of the privileges have the buyers who had wheat bought at below \( \) \( \) of the delta have made their bets and are unwilling to increase their amount further than in scalping vontures, which are not allowed to run beyond \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) of the deal have made their bets and are unwilling to increase their amount further than it hands of a small clique of bullishly inclined traders, who advanced the price for May to \( \) Grain and Provisions.

were assisted by the scaping curve assisted by the scaping curve as the provision business was rather dult. There was these buying on orders from outsiders, and sellers at the same time were not pressing with their offerings. The hog receipts were again liberal, numbering 41,000, and the packing in the west for the week was 90,000 about of the corresponding week of the past year.

PEOPLE WHO TALK.

BITS OF GOSSIP PICKED UP ON THE

The Hollowness of Fame-An Opinion of Will Harben-Jay Gould's Looks-Telegraph Pole Climbers.

THE HOLLOWNESS OF FAME.-"Reading the accounts in the papers of the Sherman funeral ceremony," said a New York visitor, yesterday, "reminded me very forcibly how soon the old notables are forgotten. Busi-ness was practically suspended while the funeral was in progress; dense crowds of people lined the streets through which the procession passed, and thousands stood bareheaded in the chill air. Then as the procession passed out of sight they gave possibly a few transient thoughts to the man whose name and fame as a warrior had spread over the whole of the civilized world, and turned to their numberless occupations with the same money making avidity as of yore, perhaps to think of him no more for weeks or months. For my part, I would rather be a live ordinary citizen than a dead hero any day."

An Enterprising Writer—"I see Will N. Harben has written another book," said a connoisseur in literary matters yesterday. "The Atlanta newsdealers, I have been told, are ordering largely of it. The Twentieth Century has given it such a send off that I am almost tempted to read it, despite the fact of my prejudice aroused by his 'White Marie.' The ex-Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost, the great sensational preacher, and 'White Marie.' The ex-Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost, the great sensational preacher, and now editor of The Twentieth Century, in speaking of the book says: 'The author of "Almost Persuaded" has given us three Christians and a skeptic at their best, and has succeeded in conducting a theological discussion in language which can hardly offend the most sensitive religious sensibilities.' And Mr. Pentecost backs up what he prints by booming the book from his lecture platform every Sun-Pentecost backs up what he prints by booming the boom from his lecture platform every Sunday in New York, Brooklyn and Newark.

"Harben is a living example of what pluck, energy and enterprise will accomplish in these United States, as from a storekeeper in Nashville he has risen within a few years to a very respectable position in the literary world and is on terms of intimate acquaintance with such stars as Edmund Clarence Steadman, Elia Wheeler Wilcox, Richard Watson Gilder and others."

NEVER JUDGE BY APPEARANCES.—"Until recently I have instinctively gauged my estimate of a man's ability by his personal appearance," said a well-known railroad man the other day; "but when I saw Jay Gould on his visit here my opinions underwent a radical change. 'What,' I exclaimed to an acquaintance, "is it possible that little ordinary-appearing, unassuming man, is worth $100,000,000, and controls the entire worth $100,000,000, and controls the entire Southwestern railroad world?'

"And let me say right here that Mr. Gould's appearance really accounts in a great measure for his wonderful success. Hundreds of men have been checkmated by him solely through underestimation of the man with whom they dealt. They have seen him and sized him up as a man over whom they could ride rough-shod; but from what I know of his past history the facts have been just the other way.

"Another great secret of Mr. Gould's success is his own accurate estimation of other men. It has enabled him to associate with him men in whom he can place implicit trust, and who are themselves giants of intellect Take for example his right-hand manager, S. H. H. Clark, who, as general manager of the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, controls directly a greater mileage than any other railroad manager in the world. The oversight of such vast and far-reaching interests require a breadth of mind and variety of knowledge such as few men possess, and Jay knew it when he put him there."

A FEMININE CHARACTERISTIC.—Said a well-known society young man the other day: "Have you ever taken note of a member of the feir sex, young or old, while passing a looking-glass? I have done it dozens of times, and in no one instance has she failed to take a sly peep at herself. That they should all do it leads me to think it is more a matter of instinct than anything else. Well, when you sum up the women and men in comparison in every particular the average strongly favors the superiority of the former, and knowing that, I cannot but admit they have a perfect right to look at and admire themselves whenever they get the chance." A FEMININE CHARACTERISTIC.-Said

He Lost His Nerve.—"What is the feeling eqperienced in a high place, say the top of a thirteen-story building?" was asked of a telegraph lineman recently.

"Well, sir, the very question you ask makes me shadder," he replied, "as it recalls to mind one or two of my own past experiences. I started at this business when about twenty-two years old. After several months work at repairing broken and crossed wires, about which work there is little danger, comparatively, I was offered $50 one day to climb a flagpole and reeve some halyards in place of a set that had become broken in a gale of wind. Fifty dollars did not grow on every bush, with me at least, and I eagerly snapped at the offer. Choosing a still, clear morning, I strapped on a pair of climbing sours and, rope in hand, started up the 125-foot pole. I got along all right until I neared the crosstrees, when I stopped to take a rest. I could not resist the temptation to look down, and the immensity of the height, and the fact that but a piece of wood stood between me and eternity (for my nerve had by this time deserted me), began to dawn upon me.

"My stomach revolted and I parted with every thing I had eaten an hour before. I had just strength enough left to wrap my arms securely around the slender pole and then fainted dead away. I reckon I sat in that condition about fifteen minutes, when the keen, frosty air began to get in its work and I slowly revived. All this time the bight of the rope was tied around my arm, and looking at the sea of upturned faces below, a bright idea came into my head. The other end of the rope hung to within a few feet of the ground. I shouted to those below to get a bottle of whisky, and saw one of the crowd run after it. He soon returned and, climbing up a few feet, tied it to the other end of the rope. I lost no time in hauling it up and putting it to my lips. I took a long and lusty pull. How good it tasted! The memory of that drink lingers with me yet. It gave me renewed strength and nerve, however, and siowly I unlimbered my

The Great New York Manufacturers' Sale of The Great New York Manufacturers' Sale of Jewelry.

One of the greatest sales of jewelry that has ever taken place in any city, and in any state, will open Saturday morning at 22 South Broad street, February 28th, at 10 o'clock, with $50,000 worth of jewelry for men, women and children of every description; in fact, too numerous to mention, to be sold for less than it actually cost to manufacture it. (Come, see and be convinced.) Remember, this is a bons fide sale, and will last for a few days only. So he sure and call early and inspect the stock. Don't forget the place—25 South mad a spect, corner bridge. CHATTAHOOCHEE LAND COMPANY. How the New Project Is Interesting the

Dr. H. L. Wilson says that $20,000 of stock of the big iron enterprise was taken yesterday in spite of the snow. One gentleman came up from Greenesboro, Ga., to take $5,000. He said from now on he wanted a piece of Atlanta. Arrangements are being made to prepare everything at the river for work just as soon as the organization is perfected.

It is predicted that this movement in erecting iron furnaces at the river is only the beginning of making this the greatest manufacsuring center in the south. Great advantages will be afforded others in locating manufactor ries of this new city on the river. Broad avenues and drives will be located and graded before it is offered to the public. A do railroad will be placed upon the avenue leading from the western part of the city.

The ore from the mines is vastly superior to most of the iron found in the south. Specimens of the ore can be seen at Dr. H. L. Wilson's office, No. 3 Kimball house. Parties wishing to get samples to test can get it. An analysis will prove its great value, being 60 per cent iron, and less than 3 per cent in silica. The deposit is exceedingly abundant.

The Finest Boy Known.

With pleasure do we inform you that on January 28th were we blessed with the advent of a fine boy, weighing 10½ pounds—perfect, healthy and fine-looking. We had no need of a physician. All well and doing well. General verdict: He is the finest boy known, is growing fast, good-natured and fully developed. Thanks for assistance obtained through the use of "Mothers Friend." We are well and favorably impressed with the merits of the remedy, believing all ladies who use it will be benefited.

May success attend you in your endeavors to send assistance to suffering women during the trials incident to child-bearing.

An Open Letter.

(But intended principally for you.)

While you may not be struck by lightning, it has been conclusively demonstrated by insurance statistics that the chances of your receiving accidental injury of some kind are as one in seven.

You are careful as to the construction of your dwelling and have guarded, as best you could, against its destruction by fire; yet your body is ten times more likely to receive accidental injury than your house is to burn.

Note the relative cost:

FIRE INSURANCE.

$5,000 insurance upon a dwelling, or first-class mercantile risk, premium, say one per cent, $50.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

WHAT TO EAT,

And Where to Get It. During the Lenten season the question of what to eat has its share of thought. Nearly all, who are in any way interested, de-cide upon a suitable selection of some delicacy in fish.

For instance, what is more palatable for breakfast than a fine mackerel? Not the ordinary, poor tasteless mackerel, but a large, fat, fancy quality bloater mackerel. If you have never eaten a fine, fancy bloater, you do not know what mackerel are. We have received another lot of extra quality bloaters, and invite a trial of them.

THE ECLECTIC DUCTORS.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT THE COL-LEGE YESTERDAY MOR. ING.

ome Interesting Papers Read by Different Members, and a Graduating Class of Thirty-one Members Tonight.

The annual meeting of the Eclectic Medical Association of Georgia closed yesterday. The graduating exercises of the class of thirty-one students will occur at Concordis hall this evening. The Eclectic Association is one of the oldest in the state, and its school has turned out many physicians.

There were twenty-three new members added during the session. The association now numbers 120 members, and has ample funds in its treasury.

THE CLOSING EXERCISES. At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the association met in the college hall, No. 48 South Butler

The first and leading feature was the annual address of Dr. F. T. Powell, president, which was a most interesting document, dealing with historical data and other matters of interest to

Dr. Maddox, of Homerville, Ga., followed in an entertaining paper on the reformation in the practice of medicine.

Mrs. Dr. Bishop, of Georgia, presented a most interesting paper on the use of electricity in labor, which subject was discussed by a number of eminent physicians present.

Dr. Bickford's paper on the use of passiflora in cholera infantum was listened to with Dr. S. P. Downs reported the birth of a constrosity at Monticello, Ga., his home, in which case he was the attending physician. The child, which was dead at birth, weighed eighteen pounds, and the head alone weighed eleven pounds.

Dr. Joseph Adolphus, of Atlanta, read a most interesting paper upon the germ theory of diseases, which was largely discussed by the

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS. The afternoon session was devoted princi-pally to the business of electing officers for the uing year

The result of the election was the re-election of Dr. F. T. Powell, Atlanta, president; Dr. J. R. Nisbet, Atlanta, first vice president; Dr. T. dent; Dr. W. M. Durham, Atlanta, recording secretary; Dr. W. C. Fisher, Atlanta, corresecretary; Dr. Allen D. Johnson, treasurer.

The association then adjourned, after profitable and enjoyable session.

The exercises at Concordia hall this evening will wind up the work of the year, which has been most gratifyingly successful.

PETITION FOR INJUNCTION. School Teacher Applies for Temporary

Judge Marshall J. Clarke granted a tem porary injunction in the case of Mrs. E. L. Cunningham against Benjamin Brown, James Baker, J. B. Roberts and J. R. Mercer, constable, yesterday morning. The petition sets forth that Mrs. Cunningham contracted with Mr. Brown last July for a house on Buena Vista avenue, agreeing to pay $12 a month for its use as a boarding ouse and school, with the option of pur chasing it or holding it until she should find another more suitable.

Mr. J. B. Roberts, the renting agent, is one of the defendants, because she claims that she has fulfilled her part of the contract by paying her rent regularly.

Mr. Baker, another defendant, claims that he purchased the property of Mr. Brown, and he sued out a dispossessory warrant which was placed in the hands of Constable Mercer, which makes him a defendant.

Mrs. Cunningham claims that she would be seriously injured both in her boarding house business and her school by being thrown out.

The case will be heard by Judge Clarke on Thursday next.

Blow Your Nose.

Alas, too often an admonition of a mother to her child. The poor innocent has probably inherited catarrh and is not responsible for its sore and filthy nostrils. Did you know that tender, soft, thin skin lining he nostrils, called the nucous membrane, extends all over the body. Every organ in the system and every orifice at the surface has this thin delicate lining as a protector. So you see what a fix the body is thrown into when the nucous membrane becomes irritated and indamed by constant friction with poisonous matter in the blood. Catarrh, leucorrhea and pites result frequently from this condition of affairs. These diseases are mere symptoms of impoverished blood. Now B. B. B. or Botanic Blood Balm, will by enriching the blood cause all such symptoms to disappear. Give it a trial. Blow Your Nose.

Henry Reeves, Shellman, Ga., writes: "Any man or woman who is suffering from piles and will not use Botanic Blood Balm is a fool, and it takes me to tell them so, for I suffered two years with bleeding piles, and B. B. B. relieved me at one."

J. Hardy, Toccoa, Ga., writes: "B. B. B. is a quick cure for catarrh. Three bottles cured me. I had been troubled several years."

James W. Lancaster, Hawkmaville, Ga., writes: "My wife was in bad health for eight years. Five doctors and as many or more different patent medicines had done her no good. Six bottles of B. B. B. has cured her."

Our electric line to the United States barracks will soon be completed. This opens up the most beautiful section near Atlanta. No objectionable features of any kind. We offer 7 acres with 400 feet frontage, and 12 acres with 500 feet frontage on the car line.

One hundred acres with one mile frontage, and 24 acres with 1,400 feet frontage, 4 acres with 300 feet frontage within 100 yards of the road to be constructed by the government from the city to the barracks. Any of the above at $1,000 per acre. Twenty-six acres with 1,000 feet frontage. The government drive goes through the center of this; $1,200 per acre. Subdivide the above and you will make 200 per cent.

We want to sell 1/4 interest in 355 acres on the new belt line with a railroad frontage of 3 miles, at $125 per acre in shares of $100 each. This will be worth $500 per acre within one year, but we need money and must sell some of our holdings.

20 lots on Piedmont avenue and Myrtle street, north of Ponce de Leon avenue. Choice property. 134 lots in Arlington Heights, on Green's Ferry avenue, between Chestaut and Ashby streets. Capitalists can double their money on above within six months.

32 lots fronting the electric line in the south part of the city.

A choice vacant lot, nicely shaded, on West Peachtree, near North avenue, 94x190. This fronts Peters park.

We have more good investment property than any firm in the city and if you want to make money call'on us.

Persons desiring real estate, either for stores residences, manufactories or speculative purpurposes, will find it to their interest, financially, to call at my office. Having lived in Atlania since 1852, I feel that I am prepared to serve buyers advantageously. I sold $1,000,000 worth of good real estate during the first half of 1890. I devote my entire time to selling and buying real estate on commission. on commission.

Those parties engaging my services get the full benefit of my experience and knowledge of the business.

BARGAINS FOR THE HIGH AND LOW. Do you understand the conditions? Simple enough. The stock that now fills the shelves will in three months be unseasonable. We must accelerate the outgo of Winter Clothing in order to have space for bright, new Spring styles. The time has come to cut deep into the heart of profits. Nothing shall be spared. Suits, Overcoats, Underwear. Twentyfive per cent discount allowed on everything that touches cold weather wear. It is wisdom to buy now for next year. Many have been doing so. Your dollars can't possibly earn larger interest. This is not a closing out sale of any wrecked concern. Just a repetition of what annu-ally occurs here. When the period arrives for the reception of fresh goods we spur the old into the quickest sort of gait. The money to be saved is exactly 25c on the $1.00.
